If you're in the Tuscaloosa area and in need of the perfect home away from home, look no further that the Hampton Inns of Tuscaloosa. Conveniently located off of exit 77 on I-20-59 and McFarland Blvd West. With the friendliest staff in town, we are fully dedicated to serving all of your lodging needs. The Hampton Inns of Tuscaloosa: We love having you here!
If you’re in the Tuscaloosa area and in need of the perfect home away from home, look no further than the Hampton Inns of Tuscaloosa. Conveniently located off of exit 77 on i20-59 and McFarland Blvd West. With the friendliest staff in town, we are fully dedicated to serving all of your lodging needs. The Hampton Inns of Tuscaloosa: We love having you here!

The Hampton Inns of Tuscaloosa clean and fresh

Hampton bed®

FREE

fresh waffles

FREE

high-speed internet

100% satisfaction guarantee

©2012 Hilton Worldwide

Hampton Inn Tuscaloosa-University

600 Harper Lee Drive • Tuscaloosa, Alabama

www.tuscaloosauniversity.hamptoninn.com • 205.553.9800

Hampton Inn-Tuscaloosa East

6400 Interstate Drive • Tuscaloosa, Alabama

www.hampton-inn.com/hi/tuscaloosa-i59 • 205.562.9000

2200 Jack Warner Parkway on the Riverwalk

bankoftuscaloosa.com | 345.6200

Bank of Tuscaloosa is a division of Synovus Bank. Synovus Bank, Member FDIC, is chartered in the state of Georgia and operates under multiple trade names across the Southeast. Divisions of Synovus Bank are not separately FDIC-insured banks. The FDIC coverage extended to deposit customers is that of one insured bank.

Pat Gooden

Kristi Kamplain

Walker Evans

Bank of Tuscaloosa

a division of SYNOVUS® bank

MEMBER FDIC

"I had wonderful doctors and nurses who worked around the clock;"
I could not have asked for better care. God bless each of them.

D C H C a r d i a c P a t i e n t L I N D A J O H N S O N

L I N D A ’ S S T O R Y : “I was too busy to be sick. I was putting in 14-hour days at work. I went to bed exhausted, and the next thing I knew I was waking up in the Acute Cardiac Care Unit at DCH several days later, asking for ice cream. They told me my heart had stopped. The paramedics shocked me twice and got it beating again. At DCH, they induced hypothermia because my brain had been deprived of oxygen during a massive heart attack. God sent me back and without brain damage. I thank Him every day for the remarkable staff at DCH. God bless each of them."

At DCH, your heart is in the right place.
Spring 2013 Season

Design for Living by Noel Coward
February 4-10, 2013
Allen Bales Theatre

Othello by William Shakespeare
February 18-24, 2013
Marian Gallaway Theatre

Alabama Repertory Dance Theatre Spring Concert
February 19-23, 2013
Morgan Auditorium

Dance Alabama! Spring Concert
March 12-16, 2013
Morgan Auditorium

The Clearing by Helen Edmundson
April 8-14, 2013
Allen Bales Theatre

Show Boat with book and lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein II
music by Jerome Kern
April 15-21, 2013
Marian Gallaway Theatre

Call (205) 348-3400
or visit theatre.ua.edu

Bama Theatre’s
Greensboro Room
7:30 pm / $5 Cover
Drink Specials

Visit bamatheatre.org for calendar
CONTENTS | WINTER/SPRING 2013

FEATURES

4 Crimson Tide War Heroes
by Margaret Clevenger

14 Fayette's Hidden Gem
by Margaret Clevenger

31 The Art of Science and the Science of Art
by Bebe Barefoot Lloyd

40 Homemade by Aimee Karr

on the COVER
Frosted Glass Dogwood
by Rick Smith.
Photography by Porfirio Solorzano

DEPARTMENTS

21 Calendar of Events
36 Seven Questions
46 Arts and Humanities Council Member Organizations
47 Sponsor Index
50 The Last Page

PUBLISHER
Arts & Humanities Council of Tuscaloosa

PUBLISHER EMERITUS
Herb S. Neu

EDITOR
Sandra Wolfe

CREATIVE DIRECTOR
Laura Lineberry

GRAPHIC DESIGNERS
Kevin Ledgewood
Laura Lineberry

PHOTOGRAPHY
Porfirio Solorzano

ADVERTISING
Rhys Greene
Meghan Hawkes
Sandra Wolfe

EDITORIAL CONTRIBUTIONS
Margaret Clevenger
Kevin Ledgewood
Bebe Barefoot Lloyd
Aimee Karr

Jubilation Magazine is published semi-annually by the Arts & Humanities Council of Tuscaloosa County, Inc. 25th Edition — Winter/Spring 2013

Arts and Humanities Council of Tuscaloosa County, Inc.
P. O. Box 1117, Tuscaloosa, AL 35403
Phone 205-758-5195 • Fax 205-345-2787
Tuscarts@tuscarts.org • www.tuscarts.org

WINTER/SPRING 2013 • 1
“The strength of the script and the cast will remain etched in our memories forever.”
– Kathryn Tucker Windham (1918-2011), Master Storyteller and Author

April 12-13, 2013
Pickens County Courthouse Square
Intersection of Hwy 86 and Hwy 17
205.792.2978

PRESENTED BY
First National Bank of Central Alabama
Member FDIC

Reserve tickets now! www.courthousewindow.com

The Face in The Courthouse Window
By Barry Bradford

ABOUT OUR CONTRIBUTORS

Margaret Clevenger’s work has appeared in many newspapers and magazines including Alabama Heritage, Mississippi Magazine, Pennsylvania Magazine, and Southern Lady. She has a story, Whistling Past the Graveyard in the anthology Tuskaloosa Tales: Stories of Tuscaloosa and its People. She is a regular contributor to Jubilation.

Aimee Karr earned a bachelor’s degree in communication from The University of Alabama, where she majored in magazine journalism and minored in fine and applied arts. Her writing has appeared in several publications, including Tuscaloosa Business Ink, Kids Life and American Style.

Bebe Barefoot is a freelance writer living in Tuscaloosa. She teaches at The University of Alabama.

New Retail Shop in Downtown Tuscaloosa featuring handmade and unique items from over 75 local artisans and crafters.

Open 10-6 Monday–Friday, and 9-2 Saturday
401 22ND AVENUE • (205) 561-6666
PRODUCTIONS, LLC

Specializing in:
ARCHITECTURAL COMMERCIAL
EDITORIAL
PORTRAITURE

PORFIRIO SOLORZANO, PHOTOGRAPHER
2502 5th Ave. East • Tuscaloosa, AL 35401 • 205.792.5192 porfirio@mygracephoto.com • www.mygracephoto.com

FITTS ARCHITECTS
www.fittsarchitects.com
205.759.5792

Theatre Tuscaloosa
In Cooperation with Shelton State Community College

Feb 8–17, 2013
A rollicking finger-snapping musical revue!

April 5–14, 2013
The hilarious tale of a TV star’s reluctant participation in Shakespeare’s greatest tragedy.

July 12–21, 2013
The famous Tony-winning musical about a drafted 1950’s Rock ‘n’ Roll star.

Order your tickets today!

SEASON 2012–2013
205.391.2277
theatretusc.com
Crimson Tide War Heroes

by Margaret Clevenger
Photography by Porfirio Solorzano
Eleven former University of Alabama students reached the rank of general during WWII, and three hundred and fifty former UA students were killed during the war.

“The University of Alabama was greatly involved in the war effort,” Reed says. “This book relives that and has individual stories about others. These men and women are telling the stories of what they did in WWII.”

Reed, himself an alumnus of UA, is an award-winning journalist who has worked at several newspapers covering sports, or serving as city editor or managing editor. He has taught at Shelton State Community College and Stillman College. Reed is also a retired Army Reserve lieutenant colonel who spent four years as a military historian. The combination of military and sports experience made Reed a natural for writing these two books. His connection to Paul Bryant, Jr. sealed the deal.

“I’ve known Paul, Jr. since he was in high school,” Reed says. “I was a sports writer and sports editor for the Tuscaloosa News during Coach Bryant’s era and knew Paul all during that time.”

The two friends were chatting over the phone one Monday morning about three years ago when Bryant suggested that Reed write about University of Alabama football players in World War II. Reed mulled over the idea, did some research, and called Bryant back to tell him he believed a book was possible.

“I went by his office and he asked me how long I thought it would take to write the book,” Reed says. “When I told him about three years, he said ‘Oh, that’s far too long. What if you quit your job and worked on it full time?’ And I said about a year. But I’d starve.”

The University of Alabama hired Reed to write the book and he soon left his job as manager and marketing director at McFarland Mall. He set up an office in the Bryant Museum and

For the last three years I’ve been fortunate enough to do nothing but interview World War II veterans and talk to them about what they went through, and what they’ve accomplished since,” says Delbert Reed, author of two books on WWII veterans with ties to the University of Alabama. Reed’s first book on the subject, When Winning Was Everything, was published in 2010 by the Paul W. Bryant Museum, and tells the stories of UA football players and coaches who served in WWII. His latest book, All of Us Fought the War, was released in the fall and covers other UA students who served during the war.
began his research.

Reed found that Alabama football players had been in every major battle from Guadalcanal to Okinawa, from Omaha Beach to the Battle of the Bulge. “They were at the forefront, leading the way as officers in many cases, performing heroically in battle just as they had as players on the football field,” Reed says.

Reed gathered many of the details of the soldiers’ war efforts through personal interviews with the veterans and with family members and friends. The book is packed with images from the war as well as photos of the young men in their football jerseys.

“There were only 27 alive of the 325 football players who served, and I was able to find and interview most of those,” Reed says. “They are down to about 18 or 19 now (still alive). I just let them tell me their stories.”

John Staples was recruited as a guard for Alabama after playing junior college ball in Mississippi. He arrived in Tuscaloosa on Sunday afternoon, December 7, 1941. A year later, he was inducted into the Marines during halftime at Alabama’s final home game of the 1942 season. Staples won a Bronze Star for heroism as part of the Marine force on Iwo Jima and witnessed the famous raising of the American flag on the island.

“I’m no hero; I just did a job and survived,” Staples says in When Winning Was Everything. “None of us who left were heroes. The heroes were the ones who didn’t make it. But I’d like to think we saved a lot of lives by clearing the mines and disposing of the bombs.”

Ed Clark was a halfback for Alabama during the 1935-38 seasons before entering the Army in 1940. Clark became a company commander with the 42nd Infantry Division, also known as the Rainbow Division. Clark’s division helped liberate more than 30,000 prisoners at the Nazi concentration camp at Dachau. Clark was awarded the Silver Star for “conspicuous gallantry in action” at Sussenheim, France, and the Bronze Star for his actions near Wurzburg, Germany.

Charley Boswell hustled down the field while carrying the football for Alabama and also ran track for the university. But the multi-talented Boswell yearned to play pro baseball. He left school in January, 1940, to prepare to play professional baseball, signing a contract later that year. But by early 1941, like so many other young men, Boswell was in the Army.

In October, 1944, Boswell was part of the landing at Omaha Beach. A month later Boswell’s tank was hit by an antitank shell and three of the four crew members were killed. Boswell survived but his eyesight was gone. As part of his rehabilitation therapy he took up golf, and just two years later he won his first National Blind Golf championship. The gifted athlete had once again found a sport in which he could excel. Boswell hosted his own Celebrity Golf Classic for many years and became friends with entertainer and fellow golfer Bob Hope.

The book covers Charlie Compton who received the Distinguished Service Cross, as well as Hugh Barr Miller and Johnny Roberts who each received the Navy Cross.

Reed tells his readers of Paul ‘Bear’ Bryant’s tenure in the Navy during the war, and follows his coaching career.
afterward. The book includes several photos of the legendary coach including a handsome Bryant in his military dress uniform. Bryant was 28 years old when the U.S. declared war on Japan, and he spent 14 months in North Africa as a physical fitness instructor and overseeing aircraft maintenance.

Interviewing the veterans was at times an emotional experience for both Reed and the veterans. “I’ve sat with people who cried about the difficulties they had and the horrors they faced,” he says. “They had put it aside for 70 years almost.”

But once the stories started flowing, the process released other memories. “One guy I went back to interview four times because he would call me and say I’ve thought of this or I’ve thought of that. Come back, I want to tell you this,” Reed says.

After the success of the first book, Bryant and Reed decided another book was in order, one that told the stories of students who were not football players, but who had also served in the military during the war. All of Us Fought the War features the stories of approximately 100 men and women and their time during WWII. The book also takes a look at the University of Alabama’s role in the war. The school housed and trained 12,888 servicemen on campus, trained 3,000 pilots from Great Britain, France, and Italy, and trained more than 50,000 defense workers at dozens of locations around the state.

Many of the names in All of Us Fought the War are familiar to people living in Tuscaloosa: Al DuPont, former mayor of Tuscaloosa, served as a medic with the first troops ashore on D-Day, June 6, 1944; Beasor Walker, former sheriff of Tuscaloosa County, returned from the war as one of Alabama’s most decorated heroes; and Stan Bloom, a Tuscaloosa businessman who survived the Battle of the Bulge where 19,236 U.S. servicemen died.

After graduating from Tuscaloosa High School, Dodd Sellers studied radio technology at UA. That training led to an assignment in communications with the Marines where he worked alongside the Navajo code talkers.

Sellers’ 10th Marine Regiment was in the thick of some the bloodiest battles fought against Japan. In the book, Sellers recounts a particularly harrowing experience at Saipan. “It was pretty much... hand to hand combat all day long,” Sellers recalls. His tent mate seriously wounded, Corporal Sellers and three other Marines hunkered behind sandbags as they fought wave after wave of enemy attackers.

“We were good shooters,” Sellers says. “I had 127 rounds of ammunition and I used them all. Everybody used all they had. You had to kill them; they were on a suicide mission. That day—July 7, 1944—was the worst day of my life. For twelve hours I thought we would never see another sunrise.”

Nancy Batson was a UA student in 1939 when she took a free pilot training course at the university. Batson grew up in Birmingham admiring Amelia Earhart and longing to pilot a plane. Women had never been allowed to fly military planes before, but with most of the male pilots overseas the women were brought into service on the domestic front. Batson belonged to the first group in the Women’s Auxiliary Ferrying Squadron (WAFS, later known as WASP), and during the war she ferried planes from coast to coast.

“Tom Griffin, who is 95 and lives in Cincinnati, was on the Doolittle Raid,” Reed says. “That was a one-way trip. Griffin went on that trip and when the plane ran out of fuel he bailed out over China after bombing Tokyo. He floated down into the dark jungle and it took him a month to get back to where they were supposed to meet to get help from the Chinese.”

After a two-week leave, Griffin was sent to North Africa where once again his plane was shot down. The same thing happened when he flew in Tunisia.

“He was back in a plane for the invasion of Sicily where he was shot down and again bailed out,” Reed says. “He spent the rest of the war in a prison camp. I asked him if he ever thought he wouldn’t make it. Tom told me ‘I always thought I would make it, but I was worried about my buddies.’ It totally boggles my mind as they tell me these things,” Reed says.

Serving in the military brought opportunity to many veterans. “One man, Walter Bridges, was working in a steel mill in Birmingham and probably would have been working there all his life,” Reed says. “But he went to war, came back, and with the GI Bill he went to college, became a lawyer and then a judge. His whole life changed.”

Aileen Kilgore Henderson of Brookwood once thought she might become a nurse, but with the war raging she felt a need to serve her country, and perhaps a need for adventure outside the confines of Alabama. She joined the Women’s Army Corp in 1944 and was sent to Ellington Air Force Base in Texas where she worked as a photo

“I always thought I would make it, but I was worried about my buddies.” — Tom Griffin
The project has been a life changing experience for me.” – Delbert Reed were trying to send fuel and supplies to England and they were sinking everything. They sank over two hundred ships on the Atlantic so they owned the East Coast pretty well, too. The Japanese rolled submarines up to our West Coast and fired on two of our ports, one in Oregon and one in California. Most people don’t know how close we came to not being who we are and where we are in life today. These guys made tremendous sacrifices.

“The project has been a life-changing experience for me and it all stemmed from a simple phone call from Paul to me. And he has a way like his father. If he tells you to do something, you want to do it, and you want to do a good job. That’s why I did the first book. And I am hoping that after this book comes out and the history is recorded, that we can put a plaque up somewhere on campus with the 350 names on it of those killed in WWII.”

Henderson (right) worked on airplane engines during the war.

When Winning Was Everything and All of Us Fought the War are available at the Bryant Museum, the Supe Store, and the Alabama Book Store.

Reed also wrote Paul ‘Bear’ Bryant: What Made Him a Winner and Delbert Reed & Friends and was a contributing author to Twelve and Counting.

Henderson (right) worked on airplane engines during the war.
Bryant Bank offers you a return to the old-school fundamentals of banking: hard work, dedication and pride.

Our local community bankers are determined to help families get ahead and see businesses grow. In short, to make our community a better place to live.

Join the Bryant Bank family today.

Because, when it comes to banking, nothing beats it.
I WANT IT RIGHT NOW!

De PALMA'S
ITALIAN CAFE

Monday - Thursday 11:00 to 10:00
Friday & Saturday till 11:00
Sunday till 9:00
2300 University Blvd. Tuscaloosa 759-1879
DISCOVER THE MAGIC AT MOODY WITH OUR MASTER’S SERIES

These renowned musicians who are known to be masters in their respective fields will perform at The University of Alabama School of Music during the 2012-2013 season. The musicians will work with our students to share their knowledge. Performers will be presenting master classes and concerts throughout the year.

Donny McCaslin
October 18

Jim Markey
February 19

John Bloomfield
February 28

Melissa Shippen
March 9

The Aspen Trio
March 21

Nicole Esposito
April 19

Eric Ohlsson
April 20

Jeff Keesecker
April 20

George Shirley TBA

TICKETS ARE $10 GENERAL ADMISSION
$5 SENIOR CITIZENS
$3 STUDENTS

FOR TICKETS SCAN HERE

OR CALL 205.348.7111
What can you do at the Kentuck Art Center in historic downtown Northport?

- Learn to express yourself in art
- Join the Clay Co-op
- Play “I Spy” in the Courtyard
- See two new exhibitions every month, opening on first-Thursday Art Night
- Watch studio artists at work
- Create memories and art at third-Saturday Kentuck for Kids
- Shop for unique gifts of art and fine craft
- Enjoy concerts, discussions, and other special events
- Take part as a member and volunteer

Mark your calendar for the 42nd Annual Kentuck Festival of the Arts, October 19 and 20, 2013, and remember Kentuck is more than just the third weekend in October!

503 Main Avenue
Northport, AL 35476
9–5 TWTF, 10–4:30 Saturday
kentuck.org • 205-758-1257

Pointing out the delightful since 1971.

Study after study indicates that children who get an arts education become higher achievers in school and the world beyond. And learning and practicing the arts impacts a broad range of cognitive skills including reading and language development, mathematics, fundamental thinking skills, motivation to learn, and even social behavior.

At TA, our college preparatory curriculum is augmented with fine art and enrichment opportunities daily. And yes, our ACT scores are higher than the national average. In fact 33% of TA seniors scored a 30 or higher and 100% graduate with college placement offers. If you’d like to learn how your child can benefit from a TA education, give us a call today.

TUSCALOOSA ACADEMY • 758-4462

Tuscaloosa Symphony Orchestra

“Cowboy Jamboree” 3/8/2013
(Family Discovery)
Explore the Western frontier with award-winning actor and poet Frank Oden.

“Tour d’Europe” 4/22/2013
Featuring Mozart’s Eb Major Piano Concerto performed by the winner of the 2012 Cleveland International Piano Competition, and

www.tsoonline.org or (205)-752-5515

What can you do at the Kentuck Art Center in historic downtown Northport?

- Learn to express yourself in art
- Join the Clay Co-op
- Play “I Spy” in the Courtyard
- See two new exhibitions every month, opening on first-Thursday Art Night
- Watch studio artists at work
- Create memories and art at third-Saturday Kentuck for Kids
- Shop for unique gifts of art and fine craft
- Enjoy concerts, discussions, and other special events
- Take part as a member and volunteer

Mark your calendar for the 42nd Annual Kentuck Festival of the Arts, October 19 and 20, 2013, and remember Kentuck is more than just the third weekend in October!

503 Main Avenue
Northport, AL 35476
9–5 TWTF, 10–4:30 Saturday
kentuck.org • 205-758-1257

Pointing out the delightful since 1971.

Study after study indicates that children who get an arts education become higher achievers in school and the world beyond. And learning and practicing the arts impacts a broad range of cognitive skills including reading and language development, mathematics, fundamental thinking skills, motivation to learn, and even social behavior.

At TA, our college preparatory curriculum is augmented with fine art and enrichment opportunities daily. And yes, our ACT scores are higher than the national average. In fact 33% of TA seniors scored a 30 or higher and 100% graduate with college placement offers. If you’d like to learn how your child can benefit from a TA education, give us a call today.

TUSCALOOSA ACADEMY • 758-4462

Tuscaloosa Symphony Orchestra

“Cowboy Jamboree” 3/8/2013
(Family Discovery)
Explore the Western frontier with award-winning actor and poet Frank Oden.

“Tour d’Europe” 4/22/2013
Featuring Mozart’s Eb Major Piano Concerto performed by the winner of the 2012 Cleveland International Piano Competition, and

www.tsoonline.org or (205)-752-5515

What can you do at the Kentuck Art Center in historic downtown Northport?

- Learn to express yourself in art
- Join the Clay Co-op
- Play “I Spy” in the Courtyard
- See two new exhibitions every month, opening on first-Thursday Art Night
- Watch studio artists at work
- Create memories and art at third-Saturday Kentuck for Kids
- Shop for unique gifts of art and fine craft
- Enjoy concerts, discussions, and other special events
- Take part as a member and volunteer

Mark your calendar for the 42nd Annual Kentuck Festival of the Arts, October 19 and 20, 2013, and remember Kentuck is more than just the third weekend in October!

503 Main Avenue
Northport, AL 35476
9–5 TWTF, 10–4:30 Saturday
kentuck.org • 205-758-1257

Pointing out the delightful since 1971.

Study after study indicates that children who get an arts education become higher achievers in school and the world beyond. And learning and practicing the arts impacts a broad range of cognitive skills including reading and language development, mathematics, fundamental thinking skills, motivation to learn, and even social behavior.

At TA, our college preparatory curriculum is augmented with fine art and enrichment opportunities daily. And yes, our ACT scores are higher than the national average. In fact 33% of TA seniors scored a 30 or higher and 100% graduate with college placement offers. If you’d like to learn how your child can benefit from a TA education, give us a call today.

TUSCALOOSA ACADEMY • 758-4462

Tuscaloosa Symphony Orchestra

“Cowboy Jamboree” 3/8/2013
(Family Discovery)
Explore the Western frontier with award-winning actor and poet Frank Oden.

“Tour d’Europe” 4/22/2013
Featuring Mozart’s Eb Major Piano Concerto performed by the winner of the 2012 Cleveland International Piano Competition, and

www.tsoonline.org or (205)-752-5515
Fayette is a small town with a population slightly under 5000, but the art museum here rivals those found in much larger cities. In fact, the museum’s art collection is so impressive it caught the attention of National Geographic, which in 1999 named the museum a regional attraction.

More than 4,000 pieces make up the permanent collection of folk and fine art, local and internationally known artists. Galleries feature the artwork of Jimmy Lee Sudduth, Benjamin Perkins, Marguerite Scruggs, Sybil Gibson, and Wanda Teel. A $30,000 mixed media piece by Nall hangs upstairs.

“We are open to any good fine art,” says museum director/curator Anne Perry-Uhlman. “We take donations and we purchase small pieces from estate sales. Mr. Black (the founder and first director) had a love of folk art before it was popular, so that collection is really big.”

by Margaret Clevenger
Photography by Porfirio Solorzano
Jack Black was the editor of the Fayette County Broadcaster when he and Fayette native and artist, Lois Wilson, began corresponding by mail in 1969. Wilson was living in New York at the time. Poor almost all of her life, Wilson had still managed to amass a large collection of artwork, her own as well as that of other artists she admired.

As she grew older, Wilson was concerned about what would happen to her art collection after she died. She offered her art to her hometown with the stipulation that the almost 2600-piece-collection be kept intact. Black assured her that it would be, and he set about to establish an art museum. Later that year, the museum opened through the efforts of the Fayette City Council and Black, who would serve as director for the next 35 years.

Originally set up in the Fayette City Hall, the museum now shares space with the civic center. “Both entities are housed in the historical Fayette Grammar School that was built in the 1930s and restored in 1982,” says Perry-Uhlman, who took over as director when Black died in 2004, and has been at the helm since.

In August, the museum hosted the Alabama premiere of “Treasures from the Rubble,” a documentary about Lois Wilson and the creation of the Fayette Art Museum. Alexandra Branyon, who grew up in Fayette but now lives in Amagansett, New York, wrote and directed the film, as well as providing the voice-over for it. After eleven years of researching, filming, editing, and overcoming technological obstacles, Branyon says with amusement, “I was challenged by the making of the documentary.”

Branyon first learned of Wilson’s story in 2000 when the actress and filmmaker was in Tuscaloosa to receive the Distinguished Career Award from the Society for the Fine Arts at the University of Alabama. Jack Black, who had been Branyon’s mentor when she was editor of her high school newspaper, introduced Branyon to the audience at the awards ceremony. The two caught up on old times, and Black told her of Wilson’s art collection and of her life lived in poverty in Yonkers, where she died in 1980 at age 75.

“Being southern, I am interested in southern themes,” Branyon says. “And I found myself identifying with Lois Wilson.”

Both women left the security of small-town life to seek their place in the bright lights of New York. “I have a great empathy for Lois Wilson because I know how hard it was for her to be an artist in New York because that is my same trajectory,” Branyon says. “It’s a classic impulse: a young person from small town America who early on sets her sights on New York. What people don’t know is the suffering involved. She lived in that margin all her life and I know what that is like.”

Wilson scrabbled amongst the debris of torn down slums to find scraps of old furniture to salvage the wood, sand it, and use it as her canvas, with black shoe polish as her paint. Found objects became the heart of her artwork. She struggled to earn a meager living, unwilling to sell her art saying, “The dealers in New York buy paintings at starvation prices, shelve them till the artist dies, and then cleanup on the bones.” Wilson managed to squeak by on an assortment of jobs including working in bookstores, as a sales clerk, in a factory, and as a cat sitter. She bought her clothes at the Salvation Army.

Wilson dedicated her life to her art. With her bountiful gift to her hometown, she left an indelible mark that will enrich generations for years to come.
generations for years to come.

“In literature a classic is something you can go back to again and again and each time you find something new,” Branyon says. “In that sense Lois Wilson’s art is classic. Lois Wilson was an artist with an original mind, a profound philosophy, a deep spirituality. She will always deserve a second look.”

“Treasures from the Rubble” has also been shown at the Lyric Theatre at the Tupelo Film Festival in Mississippi, and the movie made its international premier in June at the Female Eye Film Festival in Toronto, Canada, where it received a nomination for best documentary. In May, 2012, the House of Representatives of the Legislature of Alabama bestowed the highest commendation upon Branyon and her film.

When Branyon was asked if she thought Wilson would have attended the premiere of the film if she were still alive, Branyon replied, “She would not have come. She was very antisocial. But she would have been touched.”

Wilson’s art donation laid the framework for the museum to carry the work of other folk art masters such as Fayette native son Jimmy Lee Sudduth, who appeared in “Treasures from the Rubble,” and Sybil Gibson of Walker County.

When Jimmy Lee Sudduth was four years old he would dip his finger in mud and paint on trees. He continued to use mud all his life, but also added house paint after someone suggested that paint might be more permanent and would give him a wider range of colors. Sudduth painted portraits, houses, animals, automobiles, and almost anything that crossed his path.
One of his favorite subjects for his art was his dog Toto, who he called “the smartest dog in the world.” Toto was actually the name of a series of dogs that Sudduth owned after the original Toto died.

Sudduth’s work is included in the permanent collections of the American Folk Art Museum in New York, the Smithsonian Institution, and the High Museum of Art in Atlanta. When he died in 2007 at the age of 97, Sudduth’s obituary appeared in the New York Times.

“Sybil Gibson was known as the bag painter,” Perry-Uhlman says. “She was a very typical folk artist in that she used brown paper bags, newspapers, anything that she could get her hands on. She once painted on the old cardboard backing of a guitar case. She got her start as an artist when she needed some gift wrap paper one year and she didn’t have a lot of money. So she got out newspaper and watered down tempera paints and used that as her gift wrapping paper that Christmas. We have the headboard and the footboard of a baby bed she painted.” Like Sudduth, Gibson’s work can also be found in the American Folk Art Museum.

The Fayette Art Museum has grown over the last four decades, not only in the tally of pieces making up the art collection, but also in the scope of the services it provides to the town.

The Fayette Art Museum has grown over the last four decades, not only in the tally of pieces making up the art collection, but also in the scope of the services it provides to the town. The museum is intertwined with the everyday life of its community’s citizens through art classes offered free to school-age children, a yearly festival that showcases crafters and artists, and a Christmas tradition of locals decorating trees to brighten the rooms of the museum and civic center.

One of the newest exhibits at the museum is in honor of former Fayette Mayor Guthrie Smith who served from 1956 until 1988. Smith died two years ago. The exhibit officially opened in August in conjunction with the showing of “Treasures from the Rubble.” The Smith exhibit includes shovels that the mayor used in groundbreaking ceremonies for local businesses, and a handmade chair given to him by Birmingham Southern College, his alma mater, in appreciation of. his support. Perry-Uhlman wove dozens of the mayor’s trademark neckties into three large featured art pieces for the exhibit.

Without Lois Wilson’s generous gift and Jack Black’s vision of how to use that gift, the Fayette Art Museum might never have come to fruition.

“Ms. Wilson never came to the museum,” Perry-Uhlman says. “I know it was her goal to come back, but she never got the money to do that. She started something so fantastic, but never got to see it flourish into what it is today.

“Mr. Black was a big supporter of the arts, in all aspects,” Perry-Uhlman says. “He loved music and he loved creative writing. He could write the most beautiful things, and he used an old typewriter. He was a well-rounded gentleman, a classy gentleman. He always told me that Fayette is very fortunate to have this museum, our best kept secret.”

The Fayette Art Museum is located at 530 North Temple Avenue, Fayette, Alabama. Admission is free and hours are M-F, 9a.m.- noon; 1p.m. - 4p.m. or by appointment. Call 205-932-8727 for more information.
JANUARY

JANUARY 3
University of Alabama Community Music School
ENROLLMENT OPENS FOR SPRING SEMESTER
LESSONS, CLASSES, ENSEMBLES AND KINDERMUSIK
UA’s Moody Music Building
Prices vary
348-6741 or jweigel@music.ua.edu

JANUARY 3
Kentuck Museum Association, Inc.
“ART NIGHT” AT KENTUCK ART CENTER
Downtown Northport
5 pm–9 pm • Free
758-1257 or kentuck.org

JANUARY 8
Tuscaloosa Museum of Art:
Home of the Westervelt Collection
“ART NIGHT”
Downtown Northport and Tuscaloosa Galleries
5 pm–9 pm • Free
Tuscarts.org/artnight

JANUARY 9–FEBRUARY 8
UA Department of Art and Art History
“2013 UNDERGRADUATE JURIED EXHIBITION”
UA’s Sella-Granata Art Gallery, Woods Hall
Gallery Hours: Monday 10 am–4 pm
Reception TBA • Free
art.ua.edu/site/galleries/woods-hall-gallery

JANUARY 11–14
The ACT
“9 TO 5”
Bama Theatre
Fri at 7:30 pm, Sat at 2 pm & 7:30 pm, Sun 2 pm,
Mon at 7:30 pm
Bama Theatre • $15 Gen, $20 Premium
393-2800 or theactonline.com

JANUARY 12
West Alabama Quilters Guild
JANUARY MONTHLY MEETING
Tuscaloosa Dept. of Transportation
8:45 am Basics and Beyond (demonstration)
9:30 Projects and Reports
10:30 Program: “Quilt Block Settings and Borders”
Free
wagg.com

JANUARY 12
The Arts Council
BAMA ART HOUSE FILM SERIES
Bama Theatre
Film TBA
Tuesdays 7:30 pm
$7 gen / $6 seniors & students / $5 AC members
758-5195 or bamatheatre.org

JANUARY 12
UA School of Music
GUEST ARTIST RECITAL — LYNN RICE, PIANO
UA’s Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

JANUARY 16
UA School of Music
TIM FEENEY, PERCUSSION RECITAL
UA’s Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

JANUARY 17–20
Theatre Tuscaloosa
“BUBBA” WRITTEN AND PERFORMED BY MICHAEL WALKER
Shelton State Community College
Thur, Fri, Sat at 7:30 pm / Sun at 2 pm
Admission Charged
391-2277 or theatretusc.org

JANUARY 17
University of Alabama, School of Music
STRIKE—PIANO AND PERCUSSION DUO
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

---

TUSCARTS.ORG
JANUARY 17 – FEBRUARY 17
The Arts Council
DOUBLE EXPOSURE EXHIBIT
Bama Theatre
Gallery Hours: Mon–Fri 9 am–noon and 1 pm –4pm
Closing Reception Feb 17 2 pm–3:30 pm
Free
758-5195 or tuscarts.org

JANUARY 18
University of Alabama, School of Music
GUEST ARTIST RECITAL — MIKE DUGAN, TROMBONE
Moody Music Building, Recital Hall
5:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

JANUARY 19
Children’s Hands-On Museum
“NATIONAL POPCORN DAY”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm • Museum Admission + $1
349-4235 or chomonline.org

Kentuck Museum Association, Inc.
“KENTUCK FOR KIDS” & ART FAIR
503 Main Ave., Northport
Noon–3pm • Free
758-1257 or kentuck.org

UA School of Music
24TH ANNUAL REALIZING THE DREAM CONCERT
HONORING THE LIFE AND LEGACY OF DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

JANUARY 22
The Arts Council
BAMA ART HOUSE FILM SERIES
Bama Theatre
Film TBA
Tuesdays 7:30 pm
$7 gen/$6 seniors & students/$5 AC members
758-5195 or bamatheatre.org

Shelton State Community College
Dept. of Fine Arts
TERRIFIC TUESDAY CONCERT SERIES
Alabama Power Recital Hall
1.15 pm • Free
sheltonstate.edu/fine_arts/fine_arts_division.aspx

The Arts Council
BAMA ART HOUSE FILM SERIES
Bama Theatre
Film TBA
Tuesdays 7:30 pm
$7 gen / $6 seniors & students / $5 AC members
758-5195 or bamatheatre.org

University of Alabama, School of Music
“SKIN & BONES”
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

JANUARY 23–24
University of Alabama, School of Music
WORLD PREMIERE OF THE FRESEE COLLECTION
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

JANUARY 25
University of Alabama, School of Music
CHURCH MUSIC CONFERENCE CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

JANUARY 26
University of Alabama, School of Music
CHURCH MUSIC CONFERENCE CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
4:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

JANUARY 27
University of Alabama, School of Music
MISS COROLLA PAGEANT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
8:00 am–11 am • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

JANUARY 28
University of Alabama, School of Music
GUEST RECITAL: VIRGINIA BROFFITT, FLUTE
Moody Music Building, Recital Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

FEBRUARY 1
University of Alabama, School of Music
HONOR SPECTRUM SHOWCASE
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

FEBRUARY 2
Children’s Hands-On Museum
“SUPER BOWL SATURDAY”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm
All activities included with admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org

Tuscaloosa County Preservation Society
“MARDI GRAS JAZZ BRUNCH”
Battle-Friedman House
Details to be announced
historictuscaloosa.org

University of Alabama, School of Music
ALABAMA WIND ENSEMBLE CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
8 pm
Tickets $10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

FEBRUARY 3
University of Alabama, School of Music
HONOR BAND CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
1 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

FEBRUARY 1
University of Alabama, School of Music
ALABAMA SYMPHONIC BAND
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm
Tickets $10 adults, $5 seniors & $3 for students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

FEBRUARY 1–MARCH 8
UA Department of Art and Art History
BEVERLY SEMMES: “STARCRAFT”
The Sarah Moody Gallery of Art
Gallery Hours: Mon–Fri 9 am–4:30 pm and Thurs 5 pm–8 pm
Opening reception January 31 • Free art.ua.edu/site/galleries

FEBRUARY

FEBRUARY 1
University of Alabama, School of Music
HONOR SPECTRUM SHOWCASE
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

FEBRUARY 2
Children’s Hands-On Museum
“SUPER BOWL SATURDAY”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm
All activities included with admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org

Tuscaloosa County Preservation Society
“MARDI GRAS JAZZ BRUNCH”
Battle-Friedman House
Details to be announced
historictuscaloosa.org

University of Alabama, School of Music
ALABAMA WIND ENSEMBLE CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
8 pm
Tickets $10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

FEBRUARY 3
University of Alabama, School of Music
HONOR BAND CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
1 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

JANUARY 31
University of Alabama, School of Music
ALABAMA SYMPHONIC BAND
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm
Tickets $10 adults, $5 seniors & $3 for students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

JANUARY 31–MARCH 8
UA Department of Art and Art History
BEVERLY SEMMES: “STARCRAFT”
The Sarah Moody Gallery of Art
Gallery Hours: Mon–Fri 9 am–4:30 pm and Thurs 5 pm–8 pm
Opening reception January 31 • Free
art.ua.edu/site/galleries

FEBRUARY
FEBRUARY 4–10
The University of Alabama, Department of Theatre and Dance
“DESIGN FOR LIVING”
Allen Bales Theatre
Mon–Sat 7:30 pm and Sun 2 pm
$10 Adults / Seniors / Children
348-3400 or theatre.ua.edu

FEBRUARY 5
University of Alabama, School of Music
FACULTY RECITAL - SUSAN FLEMING, SOPRANO
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm
Tickets $10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 students.
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

Shelton State Community College
Dept. of Fine Arts
NATS PREVIEW
Alabama Power Recital Hall
1:15 pm • Free
sheltonstate.edu/fine_arts/fine_arts_division.aspx

FEBRUARY 7
Local Galleries
“ART NIGHT”
Downtown Northport and Tuscaloosa Galleries
5 pm–9 pm • Free
tuscarts.org/artnight

Kentuck Museum Association, Inc.
“ART NIGHT” AT KENTUCK ART CENTER
503 Main Ave., Northport
5 pm–9 pm • Free
758-1257 or kentuck.org

University of Alabama, School of Music
HUXFORD SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA WITH CONCERTO AND ARIA WINNER
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm
$10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

FEBRUARY 8–17
Theatre Tuscaloosa
“AINT MISBEHAVIN: THE FATS WALLER MUSICAL SHOW”
Bean-Brown Theatre, Shelton State Martin Campus
7:30 pm Thurs–Sat; 2pm Wed & Sun
Adults $22 / Seniors (60+) $18 / Students;
Children $14
391-2277 or theatretusc.com

FEBRUARY 8
University of Alabama, School of Music
“MEET THE COMPOSER”
Moody Music Building
5 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

FEBRUARY 9
West Alabama Quilters Guild
MONTHLY GUILD MEETING
Tuscaloosa Dept. of Transportation
8:45 am: Basics and Beyond Demonstration
9:30 am: Projects and Committee reports
10:30 am: Program Presentation:
Pat Lovelady from Birmingham
Free with visitors welcome
waqg.com

Children’s Hands-On Museum
MARDI GRAS “CHOM STYLE”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm
All activities included in admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org

FEBRUARY 10
University of Alabama, School of Music
ALL-STATE ORCHESTRA CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Recital Hall
1 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

FEBRUARY 12
Tuscaloosa Museum of Art: Home of the Westervelt Collection
“ART WITH FRIENDS”
1400 Jack Warner Parkway
5:30 pm–7:30 pm • Free
562-5296

Shelton State Community College
Dept. of Fine Arts
TERRIFIC TUESDAY CONCERT SERIES: MARDI GRAS CONCERT
Alabama Power Recital Hall
1:15 pm • Free
sheltonstate.edu/fine_arts/fine_arts_division.aspx

University of Alabama, School of Music
CHAMBER JAZZ
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

FEBRUARY 14
University of Alabama, School of Music
FACULTY RECITAL - NOEL ENGBRETSON, PIANO
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm
$10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

FEBRUARY 16
Kentuck Art Center
“KENTUCK FOR KIDS” & ART FAIR
503 Main Ave., Northport
Noon–3 pm • Free
758-5195 or kentuck.org

FEBRUARY 17
University of Alabama, School of Music
TROMBONE CHOIR CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

FEBRUARY 18–24
The University of Alabama
Department of Theatre and Dance
“OTHELLO”
Marian Gallaway Theatre
Mon–Sat 7:30 pm & Sun 2 pm
$18 Adults / $15 Sen / $12 Children
348-3400 or theatre.ua.edu

FEBRUARY 19
Shelton State Community College Dept. of Fine Arts
TERRIFIC TUESDAY CONCERT SERIES
Alabama Power Recital Hall
1:15 pm • Free
sheltonstate.edu/fine_arts/fine_arts_division.aspx

University of Alabama, School of Music
MASTER’S SERIES — JAMES MARKEY, TROMBONE
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

FEBRUARY 19–23
The University of Alabama, Department of Theatre and Dance
ALABAMA REPERTORY DANCE THEATRE SPRING CONCERT
Morgan Auditorium
Tue–Thu 7:30 pm / Fri 5:30 pm / Sat 2 pm
$18 Adults / $15 Sen / $12 Children
348-3400 and theatre.ua.edu

FEBRUARY 20–MARCH 18
The Arts Council
VISUAL ART ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS EXHIBIT
Bama Theatre
Gallery Hours: Mon–Fri 9 am–noon and 1 pm–4 pm
Closing reception Mar 18 at 5 pm
Free
758-5195 or tuscarts.org

FEBRUARY 22–MARCH 15
UA Department of Art and Art History
KELLY PARVIN AND MIRIAM NORRIS — TWO-PERSON EXHIBITION
UA’s Sella-Granata Art Gallery, Woods Hall
Gallery Hours: Mon–Fri, 10 am–4 pm
Opening reception TBA • Free
art.ua.edu/site/galleries/woods-hall-gallery

FEBRUARY 24
University of Alabama, School of Music
“DESIGN FOR LIVING”
Allen Bales Theatre
Mon–Sat 7:30 pm and Sun 2 pm
$10 Adults / Seniors / Children
348-3400 or theatre.ua.edu
FEBRUARY 24
String Quartet Society of Tuscaloosa
PACIFICA STRING QUARTET
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
4 pm
$15 adults / 18 years and under free stringquartetsocietyoftuscaloosa.org

FEBRUARY 26
Shelton State Community College
Dept. of Fine Arts
TERRIFIC TUESDAY CONCERT SERIES: SSCC INSTRUMENTALISTS AND ENSEMBLES
SSCC Alabama Power Recital Hall
1:15 pm • Free
sheltonstate.edu/fine_arts/fine_arts_division.aspx

MARCH

MARCH 1
The Arts Council
DEADLINE FOR DRUID ARTS AWARDS NOMINATIONS
— FORM/GUIDELINES ON WEBSITE
The Arts Council Offices
5 pm
758-5195 or tuscarts.org

MARCH 2
Children’s Hands-On Museum
“DR. SEUSS BIRTHDAY PARTY”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm
All activities included in admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org

MARCH 4
University of Alabama, School of Music
ALABAMA SYMPHONIC BAND
AND CONCERT BAND
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm
$10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 for students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

MARCH 5
Shelton State Community College
Dept. of Fine Arts
HYESEOK JUNG, PIANO, STILLMAN COLLEGE FACULTY
SSCC, Alabama Power Recital Hall
1:15 pm • Free
sheltonstate.edu/fine_arts/fine_arts_division.aspx

MARCH 5–APRIL 19
Paul R. Jones Collection of American Art, UA College of Arts and Sciences “MIGRATION”
Paul R. Jones Gallery
2308 6th Street, Tuscaloosa
Free
345-3038 or art.ua.edu/site/galleries/paul-r-jones-collection

MARCH 5
University of Alabama, School of Music
CHAMBER WINDS CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

MARCH 6
University of Alabama, School of Music
RUSSIAN NATIONAL ORCHESTRA
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

MARCH 7
Local Galleries
“ART NIGHT”
Downtown Northport and Tuscaloosa Galleries
5 pm–9 pm • Free
tuscarts.org/artnight

MARCH 8
UA Department of Art and Art History
18TH ANNUAL GRADUATE STUDENT SYMPOSIUM IN ART HISTORY
205 Gorgas Library
All day event, registration required
348-1893 or art.ua.edu/site/resources/grad-symposium-arh

MARCH 9
West Alabama Quilters Guild
MONTHLY GUILD MEETING
Tuscaloosa Dept. of Transportation
8:45 am Basics and Beyond Demonstration
9:30 am Projects and Committee reports
10:30 Program Presentation
Free with visitors welcome
waqg.com

Children’s Hands-On Museum
“MUSEUM MADNESS”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm
All activities included in admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org
MARCH 10
Shelton State Community College
Dept. of Fine Arts
SHELTON SINGERS SACRED CONCERT
Covenant Presbyterian Church
3 pm • Free
sheltonstate.edu/fine_arts/fine_arts_division.aspx

MARCH 11
University of Alabama, School of Music
ALABAMA WIND ENSEMBLE
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm
$10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 students
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

Tuscaloosa Museum of Art:
Home of the Westervelt Collection
“ART WITH FRIENDS”
I-400 Jack Warner Parkway
5:30 pm–7:30 pm • free
562-5296

University of Alabama, School of Music
U.S. COAST GUARD BAND
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

MARCH 12–16
The University of Alabama Department of Theatre and Dance
“DANCE ALABAMA!” SPRING CONCERT
UA’s Morgan Auditorium
Tue–Thu 7:30 pm / Fri 5:30 pm / Sat 2 pm
$18 adults / $15 seniors / $12 children
348-3400 or theatre.ua.edu

MARCH 16
Children’s Hands-On Museum
“SEARCH FOR SHAMROCKS”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm
All activities included in admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org

MARCH 18
University of Alabama, School of Music
TUBA/EUPHONIUM ENSEMBLE CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

MARCH 19
Shelton State Community College
Dept. of Fine Arts
TERRIFIC TUESDAY CONCERT SERIES: UA CONTEMPORARY CHAMBER ENSEMBLE
SSCC, Alabama Power Recital Hall
1:15 pm • Free
sheltonstate.edu/fine_arts/fine_arts_division.aspx

University of Alabama, School of Music
ALABAMA JAZZ BAND
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm
$10 for adults / $5 seniors / $3 for students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

MARCH 20
University of Alabama, School of Music
TRUMPET CHOIR
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

MARCH 21
University of Alabama, School of Music
MASTER’S SERIES — THE ASPEN TRIO
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm
$10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

MARCH 22–25
ACT “SPAMALOT”
Bama Theatre
Fri 7:30 / Sat 2 pm & 7:30 pm / Sun 2 pm / Mon 7:30 pm • $20 premium / $15 gen
393-2800 or theactonline.com

MARCH 24
Tuscaloosa Preservation Society
ANNUAL EASTER EGG HUNT
Battle-Friedman House and Gardens historictusaloosa.org

MARCH 25–APRIL 5
UA Department of Art and Art History
DEPARTMENT SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS EXHIBITION
UA’s Sella-Granata Art Gallery, Woods Hall
Gallery Hours: Mon–Fri 10 am–4 pm
Opening reception TBA • Free
art.ua.edu/site/galleries/woods-hall-gallery

MARCH 25–29
Children’s Hands-On Museum
“SPRING BREAK FEVER!”
CHOM
All activities included in admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org

APRIL

APRIL 2
University of Alabama, School of Music
BRASS ENSEMBLE CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

Shelton State Community College
Dept. of Fine Arts
TERRIFIC TUESDAY CONCERT SERIES: CAPSTONE QUARTET
SSCC, Alabama Power Recital Hall
1:15 pm • Free
sheltonstate.edu/fine_arts/fine_arts_division.aspx

University of Alabama, School of Music
UA OPERA THEATER PRESENTS:
“One Night Only”
Moody Music Building, Choral Opera Room
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

APRIL 4
Local Galleries
“ART NIGHT”
Downtown Northport and Tuscaloosa Galleries
5 pm–9 pm • Free
tuscarts.org/artnight

Kentuck Museum Association, Inc.
ART NIGHT AT KENTUCK ART CENTER
503 Main Ave, Northport
5 pm–9 pm • Free
758-1257 or kentuck.org
APRIL 4–30
The Arts Council
ULRIKE FRANZ EXHIBIT
Bama Theatre's Greensboro Room
Gallery Hours: Mon–Fri 9 am–noon and 1 pm–4 pm
Free
758-5195 or tuscarts.org

APRIL 4–20
UA Department of Art and Art History
“A VERSION OF EVENTS”: VIRGINIA ECKINGER AND MARK BARRY MA EXHIBITION
Harrison Galleries, 2315 University Blvd., Tuscaloosa Hours by appt: (205) 464-0054 • Free art.ua.edu/site/galleries/woods-hall-gallery

APRIL 5–14
Theatre Tuscaloosa
“I HATE HAMLET”
Bean-Brown Theatre, Shelton State Martin Campus
Thurs–Sat 7:30 pm / Wed & Sun 2 pm
$17 adults / seniors (60+) $15 / students–children $12
Pay-What-You-Can Preview: Thurs, April 4
391-2277 or theatretusc.com

APRIL 6
DRUID CITY ARTS FESTIVAL (DCAF)
Government Plaza, Downtown Tuscaloosa
Free

APRIL 7
Tuscaloosa County Preservation Society
EARTH DAY GARDEN SHOW
Battle-Friedman House
2 pm–4 pm
Details to be announced
historictuscaloosa.org

University of Alabama, School of Music
STUDENT CHAMBER ENSEMBLES
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

University of Alabama, School of Music
FACULTY RECITAL FEATURING PAUL HOGHTALING, BASS-BARITONE AND STEVEN CARY, TENOR
Moody Music Building, Recital Hall
4 pm • $10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

University of Alabama, School of Music
PERCUSSION/MALLET ENSEMBLES CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
6 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

University of Alabama, School of Music
25TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE HOLTKAMP ORGAN COMPOSITION WINNER
Moody Music Building, Recital Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

APRIL 8
The University of Alabama Department of Theatre and Dance
“THE CLEARING”
Allen Bales Theatre
Mon–Sat 7:30 pm / Sun 2 pm
$10 adults / seniors / children
348-3400 or theatre.ua.edu

APRIL 8–14
UA Department of Art and Art History
WINDGATE FELLOWS EXHIBITION
UA’s Sarah Moody Gallery of Art
Mon 9 am–4:30 pm / Thurs 5 pm–8 pm
Opening reception: April 4 • Free art.ua.edu/site/galleries/sarah-moody-gallery-of-art

APRIL 9
Tuscaloosa Museum of Art: Home of the Westervelt Collection
“ART WITH FRIENDS”
1400 Jack Warner Parkway
5:30 pm–7:30 pm • Free
562-5296

Shelton State Community College
Dept. of Fine Arts
TERRIFIC TUESDAY CONCERT SERIES: SSSC VOCAL FACULTY CONCERT
SSCC, Alabama Power Recital Hall
1:15 pm • Free
sheltonstate.edu/fine_arts/fine_arts_division.aspx

University of Alabama, School of Music
ALABAMA JAZZ ENSEMBLE
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

University of Alabama, School of Music
EQUILATERAL QUARTET
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

APRIL 10
University of Alabama, School of Music
ALABAMA WIND ENSEMBLE
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

APRIL 11
University of Alabama, School of Music
“THE FACE IN THE COURTHOUSE WINDOW” PLAY
Historic Pickens County Courthouse, Carrollton, AL
7 pm • Admission Charged courthousewindow.com

APRIL 12 & 13
West Alabama Quilters Guild
MONTHLY GUILD MEETING
Tuscaloosa Dept. of Transportation, 1000 28th Ave.
8:45 am Basics and Beyond Demonstration
9:30 am Projects and Committee reports
10:30 am Program Presentation
Free
Visitors Welcome
waqg.com

APRIL 12
West Alabama Quilters Guild
“MUSEUM MADNESS”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm
All activities included in admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org

APRIL 13
Tuscaloosa Community Dancers
“COPPÉLIA” SPRING REPERTORY BALLET
Bama Theatre
Fri 7 pm / Sat 2 pm & 7 pm / Sun 2 pm
Adults $21 / Seniors 60+ $17 / Child–Students $12
752-4220 or tuscaloosacommunitydancers.com

APRIL 13
University of Alabama, School of Music
CONCERT BAND
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

APRIL 14
University of Alabama, School of Music
TROMBONE CHOIR CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
4 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

APRIL 10
University of Alabama, School of Music
TUSCALOOSA’S GOT TALENT” TALENT SHOW
Bama Theatre
4 pm drishti4humanity.com

APRIL 10
Children’s Hands-On Museum
“MUSEUM MADNESS”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm
All activities included in admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org

APRIL 14
Tuscaloosa Community Dancers
“TUSCALOOSA’S GOT TALENT” TALENT SHOW
Bama Theatre
4 pm
DRISHTI4HUMANITY.COM

APRIL 10
Tuscaloosa University Painters
SPRING EXHIBIT
Bama Theatre’s Junior League Gallery
Gallery Hours: Mon–Fri 9 am–noon and 1 pm–4 pm
Free
758-5195 or tuscarts.org

APRIL 4–20
The University of Alabama Department of Art and Dance
“THE CLEARING”
Allen Bales Theatre
Mon–Sat 7:30 pm / Sun 2 pm
$10 adults / seniors/ children
348-3400 or theatre.ua.edu

APRIL 8
University of Alabama, School of Music
25TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE HOLTKAMP ORGAN COMPOSITION WINNER
Moody Music Building, Recital Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

APRIL 12
Theatre Tuscaloosa
“I HATE HAMLET”
Bean-Brown Theatre, Shelton State Martin Campus
Thurs–Sat 7:30 pm / Wed & Sun 2 pm
$17 adults / seniors (60+) $15 / students–children $12
Pay-What-You-Can Preview: Thurs, April 4
391-2277 or theatretusc.com

APRIL 12
Theatre Tuscaloosa
“COPPÉLIA” SPRING REPERTORY BALLET
Bama Theatre
Fri 7 pm / Sat 2 pm & 7 pm / Sun 2 pm
Adults $21 / Seniors 60+ $17 / Child–Students $12
752-4220 or tuscaloosacommunitydancers.com

APRIL 12
Tuscaloosa Community Dancers
“TUSCALOOSA’S GOT TALENT” TALENT SHOW
Bama Theatre
4 pm
DRISHTI4HUMANITY.COM

APRIL 14
University of Alabama, School of Music
TROMBONE CHOIR CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
4 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

APRIL 14
Theatre Tuscaloosa
“I HATE HAMLET”
Bean-Brown Theatre, Shelton State Martin Campus
Thurs–Sat 7:30 pm / Wed & Sun 2 pm
$17 adults / seniors (60+) $15 / students–children $12
Pay-What-You-Can Preview: Thurs, April 4
391-2277 or theatretusc.com

APRIL 14
Children’s Hands-On Museum
“MUSEUM MADNESS”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm
All activities included in admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org

APRIL 15
West Alabama Quilters Guild
MONTHLY GUILD MEETING
Tuscaloosa Dept. of Transportation, 1000 28th Ave.
8:45 am Basics and Beyond Demonstration
9:30 am Projects and Committee reports
10:30 am Program Presentation
Free
Visitors Welcome
waqg.com

APRIL 15
Children’s Hands-On Museum
“MUSEUM MADNESS”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm
All activities included in admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org

APRIL 15
Children’s Hands-On Museum
“MUSEUM MADNESS”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm
All activities included in admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org
APRIL 15
University of Alabama, School of Music
ALABAMA SYMPHONIC BAND AND CONCERT BAND
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm
$10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

APRIL 15–21
The University of Alabama
Department of Theatre and Dance
“SHOWBOAT”
Marian Gallaway Theatre
Mon-Sat 7:30 pm / Sun 2 pm
$18 Adults / $15 Seniors / $12 Children
348-3400 or theatre.ua.edu

APRIL 15–MAY 10
UA Department of Art and Art History
SUZANNE SAWYER: MFA IN BOOK ARTS EXHIBITION
UA’s Sella-Granata Art Gallery, Woods Hall
Gallery Hours: Mon–Fri 10 am–4 pm
Free
art.ua.edu/site/galleries/woods-hall-gallery

APRIL 16
Shelton State Community College
Dept. of Fine Arts
TERRIFIC TUESDAY CONCERT SERIES
SSCC, Alabama Power Recital Hall
1:15 pm • Free
sheltonstate.edu/fine_arts/fine_arts_division.aspx

University of Alabama, School of Music
BASSOON STUDIO RECITAL
Moody Music Building, Recital Hall
5:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

University of Alabama, School of Music
CONTEMPORARY ENSEMBLE/ELECTRONIC MUSIC CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm
$10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

APRIL 17
University of Alabama, School of Music
JAZZ STANDARDS COMBO WITH CRIMSON SLIDES
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

APRIL 18
The Arts Council
DRUID ARTS AWARDS RECEPTION AND CEREMONY
Bama Theatre
6 pm with Reservations Required
(Deadline TBA)
758-5195 or tuscarts.org

APRIL 19
University of Alabama, School of Music
MASTER’S SERIES - NICOLE ESPOSITO, FLUTE
Moody Music Building, Recital Hall
7:30 pm
$10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

才能够

APRIL 20
Kentuck Art Center
“KENTUCK FOR KIDS” & ART FAIR
503 Main Ave., Northport
Noon–3 pm • Free
758-1257 or kentuck.org

University of Alabama, School of Music
DOUBLE REED DAY CONCERT FEATURING JEFF KEESERICK, BASSOON AND ERIC OHLSSON, OBOE
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7:30 pm Concert
$10 adults / $5 seniors / $3 students
348-7111 or uamusic.tix.com

APRIL 21
University of Alabama, School of Music
EARLY CHAMBER ENSEMBLES CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Recital Hall
4 pm • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

APRIL 22
Tuscaloosa Symphony Orchestra
“TOUR D’EUROPE” CONCERT
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7 pm
“Cheers and Chat” begins at 6 pm
Admission Charged
752-5515 or tsoonline.org

APRIL 23
Shelton State Community College
Dept. of Fine Arts
TERIFFIC TUESDAY CONCERT SERIES
Alabama Power Recital Hall
7:30 pm • Free
sheltonstate.edu/fine_arts/fine_arts_division.aspx

MAY

MAY 1–17
The Arts Council
WESTWOOD ART MONTH AT THE BAMA
Bama Theatre
Gallery Hours: Mon–Fri 9 am–noon and 1 pm–4 pm
Westwood Singers Performance May 2 at 7 pm
758-5195 or tuscarts.org

MAY 2
Kentuck Museum Association, Inc.
“ART NIGHT” AT KENTUCK ART CENTER
503 Main Ave., Northport
5 pm–9 pm • Free
758-1257 or kentuck.org

Local Galleries
“ART NIGHT”
Downtown Northport and Tuscaloosa Galleries
5 pm–9 pm • Free
tuscarts.org/artnight

WINTER/Spring 2013 • 27
MAY 3–4
Alabama Choir School
ALABAMA CHOIR SCHOOL SPRING CONCERTS
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
7 pm • Admission Charged
758-0927

MAY 4
Children’s Hands-On Museum
“KID’S KENTUCKY DERBY DAY”
CHOM
10 am–4 pm
All activities included in admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org

MAY 11
West Alabama Quilters Guild
MONTHLY GUILD MEETING
Tuscaloosa Dept. of Transportation, 1000 28th Ave.
8:45 am Basics and Beyond Demonstration
9:30 am Projects and Committee reports
10:30 Program Presentation
Free with Visitors Welcome
waqg.com

MAY 12
Tuscaloosa County Preservation Society
TUSCALOOSA BELLES PRESENTATION AND 30TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION
First Presbyterian Church
6 pm
Details TBA
historictuscaloosa.org

MAY 14
Tuscaloosa Museum of Art: Home of the Westervelt Collection
“ART WITH FRIENDS”
1400 Jack Warner Parkway
5:30 pm–7:30 pm • Free
562-5296

MAY 18
Kentuck Art Center
“KENTUCK FOR KIDS” & ART FAIR
503 Main Ave., Northport
Noon–3 pm • Free
758-1257 or kentuck.org

MAY 19
Tuscaloosa County Preservation Society
“YOU AND ME PORTRAIT AND TEA”
Battle-Friedman House
Photos and Refreshments
2 pm
Details TBA
historictuscaloosa.org

MAY 31–JUNE 2
ACT
THE ACT PRESENTS: “IN THE HEIGHTS”
Bama Theatre
Fri 7:30 pm / Sat 2 pm & 7:30 pm / Sun 2 pm / Mon 7:30 pm
Admission Charged
$20 premium / $15 gen
393-2800 or theactonline.com

JUNE
JUNE 1
University of Alabama, School of Music
JAZZ CAVALIERS REUNION
Moody Music Building, Concert Hall
Time TBA • Free
348-7111 or music.ua.edu

JUNE 3–28
Linda Bell and Tony Brock
ROCK AND ROLL EXHIBIT
Bama Theatre
Gallery Hours: Mon–Fri 9 am–noon and 1 pm–4 pm
Free
758-5195 or tuscarts.org

JUNE 3–AUGUST 2
Children’s Hands-On Museum
“WILD & CRAZY SUMMER BEGINS!: 9 WEEKS OF COOL SUMMER FUN!”
CHOM
9 am–5 pm weekdays
All activities included in admission
349-4235 or chomonline.org

JUNE 6
Local Galleries
“ART NIGHT”
Downtown Northport and Tuscaloosa Galleries
5 pm–9 pm • Free
tuscarts.org/artnight

Kentuck Museum Association, Inc.
ART NIGHT AT KENTUCK ART CENTER
503 Main Ave., Northport
5 pm–9 pm • Free
758-1257 or kentuck.org

JUNE 8
West Alabama Quilters Guild
MONTHLY GUILD MEETING
Tuscaloosa Dept. of Transportation, 1000 28th Ave.
8:45 am Basics and Beyond Demonstration
9:30 am Projects and Committee reports
10:30 Program Presentation
Free • Visitors Welcome
waqg.com

JUNE 11
Tuscaloosa Museum of Art: Home of the Westervelt Collection
“ART WITH FRIENDS”
1400 Jack Warner Parkway
5:30 pm–7:30 pm • Free
562-5296

JUNE 13
Tuscaloosa County Preservation Society
SUNDOWN LECTURE SERIES
Battle-Friedman House
Refreshments 5:15 pm
Lecture 5:45–6:30 pm
Free to society members / $5 non-members
historictuscaloosa.org

JUNE 15
Children’s Hands-On Museum
ANNUAL “SUPERHEROES, VILLAINS AND FAIRYTALES BREAKFAST”
CHOM
Pre-Paid, Pre-Registration Required
Call for time and details
349-4235 or chomonline.org

Kentuck Art Center
“KENTUCK FOR KIDS” & ART FAIR
503 Main Ave., Northport
Noon–3 pm • Free
758-1257 or kentuck.org
Experience the Charm of Fayette

JIMMIE LEE SUDDUTH
Nationally Acclaimed Folk Artist
- Fayette Art Museum
- Museum of American Folk Art, NYC
- Smithsonian, Washington, DC
- High Museum of Art, Atlanta

ART BY LOIS WILSON
Lifetime Collection
- Fayette Art Museum
- Premiere of film “Treasures from the Rubble” at Tupelo Film Fest and Female Eye Film Fest

FAYETTE WATER PARK
Opening Memorial Day 2013
- Located at Guthrie Smith Park
- 5,000 sq. ft. water surface
- Aquatic play, lap lanes, splash pad
- Zero entry pool, 3 large slides

Bridal Registry
- Hot Sauces  BBQ Sauces
- Table Syrups  Salsa  Relish
- Strawberry Jams with Attitude

Visit Alabama Sunshine HOT SHOP at 216 2nd St. NW, Fayette, AL

ALABAMA SUNSHINE
Gourmet Hot Sauce and Fine Table Syrups
“Let us serve you.”
- Hot Sauces, BBQ Sauces
- Table Syrups, Salsa, Relish
- Strawberry Jams with Attitude

Catalog and Price List on Request
1-800-660-3933
fred@alabamasunshine.com
www.AlabamaSunshine.com

Visit Alabama Sunshine HOT SHOP at 216 2nd St. NW, Fayette, AL

CROSSROADS Art Alliance
205-364-7111
Gordo, Alabama
Where the Art of the past inspires the Art of the future

Trent Mobley
Bolling Pharmacy & Gifts, Inc.
101 Temple Ave. S.
Fayette, Alabama 35555
Phone: 205-932-4513
www.BollingPharmacy.com
Bridal Registry

Nichols Studio & Frame Shop
Specializing in Fine Art Framing for 63 Years
Daniel A. Moore
Dealer 32 Years
112 Columbus St. East • Fayette
205.932.5514 or 205.270.0972 nicholssstudio@watvc.com

Where Others Have Their Branches We Have Our Roots

The Citizens Bank of Fayette
P.O. BOX 706  FAYETTE, ALABAMA 35555
Celebrating 100 Years of Service to Fayette and Fayette County - Est. 1913
Columbus Arts Council presents
Acclaimed Metropolitan Opera Soprano
Angela Brown in Concert

Friday, February 8, 2013 • 7pm
Rent Auditorium
Mississippi University for Women Campus
Columbus, Mississippi

With show-stopping arias, poignant art songs and moving spirituals, Angela Brown opens new minds, hearts and ears to the beauty and magic of opera.

For more information on this and other exciting events, contact the Columbus Arts Council.
662-328-ARTS (2787)
www.columbus-arts.org

TUSCALOOSA
311
Make One Call to City Hall
Dial 311 for all non-emergency city services and inquiries
What do Thomas Edison’s light bulbs, a Galileo thermometer, and Dale Chihuly’s exquisite chandeliers have in common? The University of Alabama’s Rick Smith will be happy to tell you in great detail, but he would rather show you. Pay him a visit in Shelby Hall on the University of Alabama campus, and you will meet a man who exemplifies Auguste Rodin’s observation that “true artists are almost the only men who do their work for pleasure.” Smith calls his workspace a “shop,” but it feels and looks more like a studio. His official job is directing scientific glassblowing for the University, and for the past 21 years, he has done that and more with both precision and passion.

Although Smith does “not really” consider himself to be an artist, he says that his favorite part of his job is making things he has never made before. He not only creates custom glassware for the scientists on campus, but also makes many of his own fixtures and tools and loves the creativity and challenge involved.

“It’s always fun to figure it out,” he says.
He does most of the preliminary drawings himself, although some people bring their own designs. Smith often adapts those so that what the scientists want will actually work in glass. With a background in glass sculpture, he did 70% sculpture and 30% scientific glass in his previous position. At the University, it’s the reverse.

“What’s neat is that I’ve adapted many artistic techniques to the scientific glass. I have to be careful to not get too artsy with scientific pieces, though it’s tempting,” he admits. “I want all of my pieces to be seamless. That isn’t as important in scientific glassware, but I can’t help it.”

His fascination with glassblowing began more than forty years ago in Underground Atlanta, where Smyrna-based Lillie Glassblowers had a retail shop. They sold novelty handblown glass pieces and each Saturday night featured live demonstrations, which Smith would watch.

“I was hooked. Lillie hired me as an apprentice and I started out making glass swizzle sticks,” he recalls.

The grueling apprenticeship under Lillie’s master glassblowers from Germany changed his life, and Smith expresses gratitude for the discipline he developed.

“They were regimented and focused on form and process. We were not even allowed to have our elbows on the table,” he says. “You learn by doing it over and over and over. Many times I would work on a piece and they would sweep it into the garbage.”

Most glassblowing apprenticeships can take up to five years. Smith completed his in three, eventually teaching Lillie’s apprentices during the eighteen years he worked for the company.

He continues doing his part to keep the art alive by teaching a class each interim term at the University. Offered by the chemistry department since 1993, the course attracts people from a range of disciplines. It isn’t unusual for him to have fine arts and even math students among the chemistry and biology majors.

“Teaching is definitely the most challenging part of my job, but I absolutely love it,” he says, adding that the ideal enrollment would be six or seven so that each person can have a torch, but he usually has 12.

“Imagine that many students with torches and hot glass! I feel I’m on a treadmill, going from student to student,” he says.

Smith feels that interim term is perfect for a glassblowing class because meeting all day, every day helps build momentum and that’s best for teaching the craft. He is especially proud that no one has ever failed his class.

“I would see that as a poor reflection of myself. I won’t allow failure. The coolest thing you ever see is the constant work over days and days. They’re frustrated and upset and then it clicks and they get it.”

Smith works in a state-of-the-art facility that he designed himself. The architectural firm actually kept his drawings and they have used them to design two other facilities.

He also creates artistic pieces for the University, including the elephants that the College of Arts and Sciences presents as gifts. Smith does those freehand, so no two are alike. Ironically, his specialty before coming to the University was glass eagles.

“Needless to say, I don’t make many of those here,” he laughs.

Among many other items, he made a duplicate replacement globe and spare for one of the Waterford chandeliers in the President’s mansion, as well as etched plaques for various departments, and a glass replica of the Shelby dome for the building’s dedication.

Smith has a fully equipped shop at home and does some commissioned work. His impressive portfolio includes a wide range of pieces—everything from creations for major companies such as Corning and large cities like Atlanta to wedding cake toppers for local clients. In addition, he restores chandeliers. Surprisingly, he and his wife, Lorraine, do not have much of his work in their home, although he makes all of their holiday ornaments.

“Our tree is all glass,” he says.

Since 1980, Smith has been on the publications committee for The American Scientific Glassblowers Society. In his spare time, he plays guitar and has a small collection of acoustics, his favorites being Martins. He also collects stained glass, carved birds, and is an accomplished sailor.

Across campus from Smith’s “shop” in Shelby Hall is an “office” in Coleman Coliseum that should also be called a studio. Like Rick Smith, director of athletic photography Kent Gidley insists that he is not an artist, but his work also belies that claim and, like Smith, he makes a marriage of art and science as he captures images for 20 sports.

A 26-year veteran, Gidley evolved with the paradigm shift that the digital age imposed on his craft. His very workspace represents that evolution.

“It was the darkroom. That’s a relic of the past,” he says.

Gidley points out that now photographers have to be librarians and researchers, but he also thinks that his earlier experience transfers.

“Back in the day, we shot slide film. Then, you had to be dead on because you can’t correct slides,” he says. “Digital is sort of like that. You may be able to use a shot artistically but you can’t use it to make a printable picture. So, when you get down to it, photography is photography, digital or not.”

Gidley emphasizes the discipline involved in his job and says that he does not feel that he is an artist because the shots he takes are not about him.

“I don’t focus on me. I focus on the University and its needs. This is an awesome job and I feel lucky to be here,” he says.

He admits to receiving a great deal of positive feedback but downplays his part in it and emphasizes his subject matter.

“I think the praise has more to do with what I’m shooting than with the quality of my work,” he says.

Although he does not remember taking his first photo, his grandmother always told him that it was of clouds in the sky and she gave him the picture. He believes that his lifelong struggle with dyslexia is probably why he was attracted to the camera because it presented a way for him to interpret his surroundings and communicate with others.

Gidley did sports photography in high school, but says he would take shots of whatever he could—everything from “fourth of July fireworks to pictures in the woods.” By his senior year, his principal thought he could become a professional. He introduced him to Bill Miller, who had a photography business and contracts with high schools.

“Mr. Miller asked me my dream,” says Gidley. “I told him I wanted to be a photographer on the sidelines at the University of Alabama. He happened to have some connections here and I came to Tuscaloosa a year later and enrolled as a New College student.”

He originally applied to be a football team manager but a series of introductions and other events helped him to eventually realize his dream. Gidley also credits New College with his success.

“Without New College, I wouldn’t have made it. I think everyone at the University of Alabama should have to take a class from Jerry Rosenberg,” he says.

In New College, he focused on sports journalism and earned his degree in 1991.

Although he is certain that what happened when he got his job could never occur now because no one can get on the sidelines and create a portfolio, Gidley still does his part to help aspiring photographers by teaching courses in the College of Communications. He started by teaching a 200-level photography course and then team-taught a 400-level class with Professor Kim Bissell. He currently teaches Photojournalism 361, which is intermediate photography.

“Photography is about doing the job.
It’s about showing up,” he says. “I want these kids to have the same excitement I have. I want them to know photography is more than just pushing a button. I want them to take it seriously.”

Gidley also has what might be called apprentices—student assistants who work with him in all phases of the process, including the intensive, behind-the-scenes computer work. He lives by one of Coach Paul “Bear” Bryant’s philosophies—“Hire people who are better than you are”—and always keeps it in mind when choosing his student colleagues.

“If one of them gets a great shot, I am as proud as if I made it myself. On game day, I’m not thinking about a job or even the game. I’m focusing on capturing everything,” he says.

Gidley enjoys shooting basketball photos and says those are all about timing. He points out that in football, you can hold the button down and use the motordrive, but in basketball you have to choose. He also finds gymnastics photos to be especially challenging because you cannot use strobes and have to think about things you would not otherwise consider. There are some shots you cannot take.

Gidley defines a great photo as one that has never been seen and that is his goal.

“I’m on a mission. I want unstaged photos. I want to do that every day.”

Like a man who does his work for pleasure. Like a true artist.
The Cavell Trio released its debut CD, The Art of Collective Invention, on the Blue Griffin label in April, 2012, with the electronic version made available in June. The Cavell Trio members are Osiris Molina (clarinet), Jenny Mann (bassoon), and Shelly Meggison (oboe). All three musicians are on the faculty in the music department of the University of Alabama, and are principal players for the Tuscaloosa Symphony. Carving out time between busy teaching schedules, the trio has been touring throughout the country and performing songs from the studio disc. The Art of Collective Invention presents well-known as well as never before recorded pieces by Villa-Lobos, Hetu, Feld, Francaix, Szalowski, and Ibert. The CD is available on iTunes, Amazon.com and bluegriffinrecords.com.

Questions by Margaret Clevenger

Where did you grow up and when did you become interested in playing music?

Osiris Molina: Elizabeth, New Jersey. In the third grade when I joined the band at school. I played the clarinet in the band all through school and was drum major in high school.

Jenny Mann: Half in Minneapolis, and half in Austin, Texas. It was a real North meets South. I didn’t start playing until the sixth grade. In Texas, music is a big process of testing, and looking at your grades and aptitude.

Shelly Meggison: I grew up in Jasper, in Alberta, Canada. Cavell is a mountain very close to the town where I grew up. For me, it is the most beautiful, picturesque mountain in the area. My first instrument was piano. My town was very small, so if you wanted to study an instrument that was the only choice. There was one piano teacher in town and I started taking piano lessons at age four. I never took oboe lessons until I went to college.

What do you teach at UA?

Molina: I teach clarinet and chamber music. I also teach Woodwind Methods courses for Music Education majors.

Mann: Bassoon and chamber music. I administrate and coordinate the chamber music program for the entire school of music.

Meggison: I am professor of oboe and assistant director for the school of music. I also wrote, with McGraw Hill Publishing Co., the Introduction to Listening course that we use now.

How did you choose the songs or the composers for your CD?

Molina: We went through piles of music. There are six pieces on there and we wanted to have some new pieces along with the old standards.

Mann: For me, Ibert and Francaix were certainly favorites. Villa-Lobos was the piece that brought us together, so we had to record it. We had done it at a conference in Virginia when we first got together.

Meggison: This CD was a pretty easy selection for us. The Villa-Lobos is a piece that is near and dear to all three of our hearts. And we wanted to record some pieces that had never been recorded before, so that was a big factor in choosing the Feld and the Szalowski.

Any surprises when you recorded the CD?

Molina: It was easy. We had been practicing a good bit and we didn’t want to do all six pieces at one time, so we split it up and went up there (Michigan) twice.

Mann: It was a lot more stressful than I thought it would be. We have a wonderful relationship and work ethic, but boy, all of your frustrations come out when you are in such a high pressure situation.

Meggison: I think we all learned a lot. It takes a tremendous amount of focus, more than I realized going in. I think one of the challenges was being able to compromise, being able to give and take a little bit on what each of us felt were the best takes. And you feel a real sense of responsibility to your colleagues and the recording engineer.
Who are some of your musical influences or groups you like to listen to?

Molina: My parents are from Cuba, originally, so in our house it was a lot of salsa and merengue. I’ve always been a Springsteen fan, of course, since I’m from New Jersey. And I listen to classical music, too.

Mann: My tastes are eclectic. One classical singer I like is Jan DeGaetani. I like Katy Perry for working out because her music has a perfect pace.

Meggison: Bach definitely speaks to my soul. There is something about his music that draws something very special and unique, emotionally, from me. I’m kind of obsessed with Gypsy Kings right now. They are such incredible musicians. I really enjoy some of the old jazz standards like Miles Davis, John Coltrane, and Thelonious Monk. Another one of my current favorites is the composer Prokofiev.

What do you do for fun away from music?

Molina: I have two very young kids and that keeps me busy. So I play with my kids and I like to go to the movies as much as I can.

Mann: I have a nine-year-old daughter and we do a lot of reading and cooking. We also talk a lot about superheroes.

Meggison: I love kayaking and road cycling. We did a lot of skiing growing up, downhill and cross-country. But I only get to ski a couple of times a year now when I go see family over the Christmas holidays.

Any last thoughts?

Molina: I enjoy playing with my trio quite a bit. They’re very sweet. I have a great time with them and I hope the next CD comes out really soon.

Mann: We had only known each other a semester when we started the trio, so our friendship grew out of this. Shelly is like my sister and Ozzy is like my brother. We will continue this no matter where we are or what we are doing. Cavell will always go on. We’ve all agreed to that.

Meggison: I think the dynamic we have with each other is what makes our group unique. We are such good friends. We don’t have to tiptoe around each other; we can tell it like it is and no one is going to get offended or hurt. We are very lucky in that regard.
Welcoming the Faucett Brothers Activity Center

Featuring state-of-the-art fitness equipment and instruction in a family friendly atmosphere
205-562-3220   tcpa.org

The Jerry Brown ARTS FESTIVAL hosted by the
NORTHWEST ALABAMA ARTS COUNCIL
March 2 & 3, 2013  Hamilton, AL
Free Admission

DISCOVER LEARN CREATE
We specialize in Awesome!
Newborn–12 Year Olds • 22 Exhibits • 3 Floors

Chomonline.org
An outreach program for the School of Music in the Moody Music Building, The University of Alabama’s Community Music School (CMS) offers private and group instruction on wind, brass and string instruments, piano, organ, voice, guitar, and drums. Students range in age from Pre-K to retirees and beginning to advanced in development. Ensembles include youth and adult string ensembles, a youth jazz combo, and select chamber music groups.

The CMS also features a thriving Kindermusik® program for children ages birth - 7 years. These classes foster creativity, social development, self esteem, attentive listening, and imagination through singing, movement, and instrument exploration.

The University of Alabama
COMMUNITY MUSIC SCHOOL

All ages and abilities are welcome.
For more information call 205.348.6741 or www.music.ua.edu/community-music-school
Taking enrollment fall, spring, and summer orking almost exclusively with hand tools, craftsman Randy J. Arnold hand makes banjos, his own tools, book binding tools, furniture, and bicycle racks. “With power tools, often things are very straight: you have a lot of straight lines; you have a lot of 90 degree angles. With hand tools, you can really shape the wood in these nice, soft, rounded shapes and really sculpt the wood. I just really enjoy these nice organic shapes. In some ways, I don’t think that I’m a sculptor, but I see what I do as sculpting wood.”

Randy lives and works in Northport, Alabama. After inheriting his maternal grandparents’ home, he began renovating his grandfather’s wood shop. “I guess I was looking for a sense of family and getting to know my granddad,” he said. “His wood shop had been sitting up since 1979 or ‘80, and it had been taken over by raccoons. It was my mission to get that shop going again. I put new floors in; I patched the roof. I was totally self-taught; I wasn’t going to make anything worse.” His grandfather’s tools were also in need of repair. “So, I spent time cleaning the tools and getting them going again. A great way to learn how to use tools is to take them apart and get them going.”

At that time, Randy had been playing the banjo for about 3 years. “The first banjo I got was the cheapest banjo you could possibly buy, because I might not like it. I’ve always played guitar,” he said. “After a few years, I really liked it, so I thought it’s time to get a better banjo.” This just happened to coincide with the completion of the shop renovation. “Most people start with a bread box; I did, for some reason, a banjo.”
“I broke the whole thing down,” he explained. “It was just like ‘Okay, I need to bend wood and make it round for the pot.’ I’d just research that and experiment and try to figure out how to make a steam box and how to make the jigs and everything to do that. It was a lot of trial and error, and then I’d finally get it. Then it was ‘Okay, now I need to make a fretboard. How do you put frets on a fretboard?’ I just broke it down into pieces like that. At the end of a year, I had a very playable, but really funky looking, banjo.” He estimates that he has made a few dozen since then.

One of his banjos was in Music Makers: A Celebration of the “Year of Alabama Music” Exhibit during the summer of 2011 in Montgomery, Alabama.

Randy’s grandfather, Sam Maxwell, had used the wood shop for carpentry, so the tools he had were for larger projects, like building the garage apartment Randy’s shop is in today. “Banjos are very intricate, very tiny work, tiny joints,” Randy said. “A lot of people don’t use hand tools anymore so quality ones aren’t really available. So, I started making my own tools to work with. When I started making my own tools is when I started getting really deep into the work. I started really connecting with the work. That’s when it started feeling like it was a part of me, and I was a part of it, too.”

Many of the tools Randy makes for his work have a deeper meaning. For example, he crafted a turning saw from limbs off a walnut tree that had to be cut down at his paternal grandparents’ home in Scottsboro, Alabama. “Every single time I use this, I think about my grandparents who have passed away. I remember going to their house; I remember the tree,” he said. “It’s nice to work with tools that have a deeper meaning, and it puts a deeper meaning in your work, too.” He also made some marking knives out of some branches from local book binder and friend Larry Lou Foster’s camellia bush that died. “Every time I use them I think about Larry Lou,” he said. Randy also made his own hand planes based on a design by woodworker James Krenov, who Randy said he considers one of his mentors. “It’s like he’s a part of me now, because I think of him every time I use this, and it’s an inspiration. I think there’s a lot of symbolism in the tools that I use in my work.”

There is also symbolism in the work itself. When Randy made a banjo for a customer who was interested in Moundville Archaeological Park, he incorporated imagery from Moundville artifacts. He embellished another banjo with a pearl inlay lotus flower for a customer who is a Buddhist.

“...and I was a part of it, too.”

Randy was inspired by book artist Amy LeePard, his partner of eleven years, to make book binding tools. “When she was starting out, I wanted to make her some really special tools that were really nice and more furniture-grade,” he said. “When she would go to workshops, people would see them and ask where she got them, and she would be sure to tell them. So I, totally by accident, got into that.” He now sells them via his website, the Morgan Art of Papermaking Conservatory in Cleveland, Ohio, Colophon Book Arts Supply in Washington, and the Kentuck Art Center.

Randy also has an interest in furniture design. “With the furniture, I got to play around with designs and do things that were quite a bit, I don’t know if you’d call it modern exactly, but just new designs,” he said. Amy referred to it as “modern designs with very traditional techniques.” Randy agreed. He uses traditional joinery, not nails or screws. “The joints that I use are the same joints that Romans used,” he said. He will occasionally use glue if the piece is going somewhere the humidity changes a lot just to be safe, because wood naturally expands and shrinks. “I also see the furniture kind of like sculpture. Each piece is made individually,” he said. “If there’s one piece, I can make other pieces that might go along with it if you want to have a room done in the same type of piece. But, I don’t do even two of the same thing; every one is completely different.”

Randy designed a table inspired by a particular type of Japanese temples. “I’m fascinated by all things Japan,” he said. Early Shinto Japanese temples were made with joinery like this, huge wooden temples. And they were built to be taken apart. This is the same way. You can take the whole thing apart and put it in a closet if you want to.”

“It’s kind of deceiving when you see it like that,” Amy said. “Because it comes apart so easily, it made me think it’s not It’s interesting.”

“It’s a system that works together,” Randy said. “All of the parts work together to make it very, very solid. But, it also comes completely apart. Every single joint is matched. It only goes together one way.”

Randy also designed a podium for the 40th anniversary of the University of Alabama’s New College program. He used through mortise and tenon joints to connect the wood. “This is super traditional and incredibly strong; this will never come apart,” he said. “It’s a very traditional way of working. But, I don’t think the podium is a very traditional style. The reason I did it this way is because New College does things a little bit differently, and no matter how different they are, they always achieve a balance, so I was playing with the balance.”

Randy is now balancing work and school. He returned to school this semester as a student in New College. He was inspired to go back to school by the recent movements that have emerged around the world, such as The Change Makers in England, and the Makers movement and the Occupy movement in the U.S. “One thing that I’ve learned is that you don’t have to go out and buy everything,” he said. “You can build your own stuff, and you can also sell your own stuff. And if you start building and selling your own stuff, you’ll probably start purchasing things from people who also build and sell their own stuff. I just see this community, and I see this move into a deeper way of understanding living or the economy. It just seems like the world is right on the edge of getting better, which sounds funny because we’re in such weird and turbulent times, but I’m really hopeful for the future.” However, he’s not completely sure where this is leading him. “It’s just that I’ve just been so excited about what I’ve been doing that I just want to go out into the world with it or something. I’m not sure,” he said. “I don’t know how to verbalize it, but I just feel like there’s an opportunity to relate and for people to connect with this in a way, and I just want to explore how to do that.”
It is the official policy of the Alabama Department of Postsecondary Education, including all postsecondary institutions under the control of the Alabama State Board of Education, that no person in Alabama shall, on the grounds of race, color, disability, sex, religion, creed, national origin, or age, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program, activity, or employment.

MUSIC DANCE THEATRE
VISUAL ARTS
THEATRE TUSCALOOSA
SHELTONSTATE.EDU
Member Organizations

Joey Lay
Actor’s Charitable Theatre
joey@theactonline.com

Claire Siepser
Alabama Art Kitchen
Alabama artkitchen@gmail.com

Paula Demonbreun
Alabama Blues Project
paula@alabama blues.org

Doff Procter, Artistic Director
Alabama Choir School
dprocter@aol.com

Rebecca Todd Minder, Digital Media Editor
Alabama Heritage Magazine
Rebecca.minder@au.edu

Kathy Henslee
Alabama Public Radio
khenslee@apr.org

Suzanne Dowling, President
Arts ‘n Autism
sdowling@ur.ua.edu

Robert E. Griffin
Barbershop Harmony Society
griffin@aol.com

Charlotte Gibson, Executive Director
Children’s Hands-On Museum
charlotte@chomonline.org

Reginald Kennedy
Community Network Association, Inc.
rkennedy@tuscaloosa.com

Rhys Greene
Crossroads Arts Alliance
rhysmarie@gmail.com

Dibya Singh
Drishiti
dibya1@aol.com

Alvin Niuh
Friends of the Arboretum
aniuah@ches.ua.edu

Shweta Gamble, Executive Director
Kentuck Museum Association
sgamble@kentuck.org

Kip Tyner
Kip Tyner Productions
553-0589

Kirby Johnson, Editor
Nano Fiction
nanofictionmag@gmail.com

Maria A. Minter, PR Chairperson
Northwest Alabama Arts Council
staff@northwestalabamaarts.org

Terri Godoy, President
Pointe Society of Tuscaloosa terri.godoy@gmail

Leslie Poss
Prentice Concert Chorale
pcc@prenticeconcertchorale.com

Mark Brown
Shelton State Community College
mbrown@sheltonstate.edu

Lisa Keyes
Sister Cities Commission
lykeyes@dbtech.net

Dr. Luvada Harrison
Stillman College Fine Arts
lharrison@stillman.edu

Madeline Hill, President
String Quartet Society of Tuscaloosa
mmhill@bellsouth.net

Tina Turley, Executive Producer
Theatre Tuscaloosa
tturley@sheltonstate.edu

Drew Baker, Artistic Director
Tuscaloosa Children’s Theatre
thebakers55406@att.net

Susan West, Executive Director
Tuscaloosa Sports and Tourism Commission
swest@visit tuscaloosa.com

Katherine Richter Mauter, Executive Director
Tuscaloosa County Preservation Society
Kmauter@cps.bellsouth.net

Betty Quarles, Executive Director
Tuscaloosa Community Dancers
tcdancers@gmail.com

William Hawkins, Museum Coordinator
Tuscaloosa Museum of Art:
Home of the Westervelt Collection
whawkins@westervelt.com

Mary Elizabeth Harper, Executive Director
Tuscaloosa Public Library
meharper@tuscaloosa-library.org

Elizabeth McGuire, Executive Director
Tuscaloosa Symphony Orchestra
tso@tsoonline.org

Donna Boles, President
Tuscaloosa Symphony Guild
donna boles@comcast.net

Dotye Lind, President
Tuscaloosa & University Painters
Dottyey2k@bellsouth.net

Dr. Cathy Pagani, Department Chair
University of Alabama Art Department
cpagani@ua.edu

Kelli Wright, Communication Specialist
University of Alabama College of Arts & Sciences
kwright@as.ua.edu

Jane Weigel
University of Alabama Community Music School
jweigel@music.ua.edu

Hank Lazer
University of Alabama Creative Campus
Hlazer@aalan.ua.edu

Katie McAllister, Director
University of Alabama Paul R. Jones Gallery
Mcall007@as.ua.edu

Skip Snead, Department Chair
University of Alabama School of Music
ssnead@music.ua.edu

Randi Mecredy
University of Alabama Museums
rmecredy@bama.ua.edu

Ken Gaddy, Director
Paul W. Bryant Museum
kgaddy@ua.edu

Bill Bomar, Director
Moundville Archaeological Park
bbomar@ua.edu

Christopher Montpetit, Director of Theatre Management
University of Alabama Department of Theatre & Dance cmmontpetit@as.ua.edu

Claire Lewis Evans
University of Alabama Press
clevans@uapress.ua.edu

LaToya Scott, Coordinator
University of Alabama Student Programs
Scott060@sa.ua.edu

Billy Kirkpatrick, Executive Director
West Alabama Aids Outreach billy@waaao.info

Charlotte Nix, President
West Alabama Quilter’s Guild
cnix@ua.edu

Susan Warner
Warner Foundation
sgaustin@bellsouth.net

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Amy Ahmed
Ann Bourne
Joan Brown
J. Sydney Cook, III
Pamela DeWitt
Andrew Grace
Elizabeth Hamner
Patrick Harper
John Hicks
Mary Kerr
Beverly May
Katie McAllister
Valery Minges
Brendan Moore
Marcy Morrow
Ruth O’Connor
John Owens
Brenda Randall
Sandra Ray
Rebecca Rothman
Dr. Loy Singleton
Mark Sullivan
Debbie Watson
Margaret Wilson
Kathy Yarbrough
Sponsor Index

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Sponsor Name</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Alabama Public Radio</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alabama State Council of the Arts</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alabama Sunshine</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arts and Humanities Council of Tuscaloosa County, Inc.</td>
<td>iv, 30, 47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Averette Veterinary Hospital</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bank of Tuscaloosa</td>
<td>iii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boiling Pharmacy</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bryant Bank</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buffalo Rock Company</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Childrens Hands-On Museum (CHOM)</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Citizens Bank of Fayette</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Columbus Arts Council</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Creative Campus</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crossroads Art Alliance</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DCH Regional Hospital</td>
<td>iii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DePalma's Italian Cafe</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F-B Productions, LLC</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Face in the Courthouse Window</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City of Fayette/Fayette Area Chamber of Commerce</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fitts Architects</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hampton Inns of Tuscaloosa</td>
<td>Inside front cover</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Harrison Galleries</td>
<td>Back cover</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>James Mize</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kentuck</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Laura Lineberry Graphic Design</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little River Art</td>
<td>iv</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Makers’ Market</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moundville Archaeological Park</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nichols Studio</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Northwest Alabama Arts Council</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Owens &amp; Millspen, LLC</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PARA</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paul W. Bryan Museum</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Russell S. Lee Flooring America</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rhys Greene/St. Michael's Episcopal Church</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shelton State Community College</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sweet Digs</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TCB Security</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tuscaloosa 311</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tuscaloosa Community Dancers</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tuscaloosa Childrens Theatre</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Theatre Tuscaloosa</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tuscaloosa Symphony Orchestra</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tuscaloosa Academy</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UA College of Arts &amp; Sciences</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Department of Art and Art History</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UA College of Arts &amp; Sciences</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>School of Music</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UA College of Arts &amp; Sciences</td>
<td>iv</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Theatre and Dance</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UA Community Music School</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Walter Energy</td>
<td>Inside back cover</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

experience life

express yourself

explore the arts

music dance visual art poetry theatre film education community

---

The Arts Council/Bama Theatre/CAC

600 Greensboro Ave.

Tuscaloosa, AL

205-758-5195

www.tuscarts.org
TUSCALOOSA COMMUNITY DANCERS

Coppelia

April 12th - 14th 2013
Historic Bama Theatre

www.tuscaloosacommunitydancers.com
Visit our art galleries

Paul R. Jones Gallery
2308 6th Street
Tuscaloosa
Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday
10 a.m.-6 p.m.
Thursday 12-8 p.m.

Sarah Moody Gallery of Art
103 Garland Hall
UA campus
Monday-Friday
9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Thursdays 5-8 p.m.

Sella-Granata Art Gallery
109 Woods Hall
UA campus
Monday-Friday
10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Coming Soon
UA Art Gallery
Dinah Washington Cultural Arts Center
620 Greensboro Avenue
Tuscaloosa
ew Year’s Eve is a time of contemplating the previous 365 days and planning to make the next 365 better.

We promise ourselves that we will be kinder to others, eat healthier foods, drop that stubborn ten(or 25) pounds that we’ve been fighting since our college-age kids were still in kindergarten. All noble goals, for sure.

But let’s be honest. New Year’s Eve is really about partying.

At my house people are in and out all day. We are a group of close friends and family. Some of us will hit whatever shops are open that day, usually of the antique/thrift store variety. The out-of-towners navigate over to the University of Alabama to drive by the old dorm, breathe a sigh of relief that it hasn’t been torn down, and play “do you remember when.”

For the last few years making note of the many changes on the ever expanding campus has become a favorite game.

When evening falls, we always grill outside, no matter the weather, cold or not, rainy or dry. It’s traditional and we are sticklers for tradition. I have balanced a wobbling umbrella over my head as I flipped steaks and salmon fillets, with my jacket zipped up tight against the cold night air.

The heartier souls gather outside around the fire pit, while the thinner-skinned are happy settled inside in front of the fireplace. We swap stories, talk of future plans, good-naturedly tease each other over things done, or left undone. It is a companionable group, thankful to be together one more year.

New Year’s Eve is a time to enjoy a glass(or two or three)of champagne, wear funny hats and glow-in-the-dark bracelets of red or yellow or green. When midnight rolls around we toast each other and snack on goat cheese, rich chocolate, and seedless grapes. We snap open European party crackers with a satisfying POP, and read aloud the all-purpose fortune found inside.

A couple of years ago, after an extended end-of-the-year celebration, I tumbled into bed in the wee morning hours, exhausted from a full day of activity. I was awakened by a creak of the floorboard in the hall. Amazingly, I was immediately alert. There is something about a bump in the night that will do that for you, no matter how sound asleep you are, or how many glasses of bubbly you have knocked back.

My eyes strained to adjust to the darkness as I realized there was someone in my house. In my hall. Right outside my bedroom door. My mind raced as I searched for a plan of action, yet I felt frozen in place. The best I could come up with at that moment was to try to frighten this person into leaving.

In a deep, scary voice I summoned “HEY,” then waited in silence. The only sound was my heart pounding in my ears. I expected, I think, footsteps retreating down the hall, down the stairs, and out the door. Away from me and my house.

But there was complete quiet.

So, in my even deeper, and more menacing voice, I once more brought forth “HEY!” Again, no retreating footsteps.

But an apologetic, familiar voice whispered, “It’s me. I just got up to go to the bathroom.”

It was my sister. I had forgotten she was spending the night.

So, I’ll add a couple more New Year’s Eve resolutions to my list: never forget that guests are staying overnight, and always leave a nightlight burning.
Meet Cole.

Walter Energy takes pride in providing Cole’s parents and over 2,100 others with jobs in West Alabama. We operate 15 coal mines in three countries and employ 4,200 worldwide. Walter Energy has been one of the largest contributors to the West Alabama economy for over three decades. Our future plans call for even more new jobs for West Alabama on the coming years. So, when Cole earns his degree and hangs up his catcher’s mitt for the last time we will have a job waiting on him.
Che Berlin 2009, from the Berlin Wall Series
16 x 20 Digital Photo by Jim Harrison

2315 University Boulevard
Downtown Tuscaloosa
Monday–Saturday, 12:00–6:00
or by appointment

205.464.0054 • H 345.8684 • C 310.1648

Join us for the Artrageous Riverfront Art Tour featuring Art Night in Downtown Northport
Sponsored by Kentuck and The Art & Soul of Downtown T-Town • First Thursday of Every Month