ANNUAL REPORT

ARTS AND HUMANITIES COUNCIL OF TUSCALOOSA COUNTY, INC.

JUNE 2016 - MAY 2017
From the Director:

The many organizations in Tuscaloosa County that continually add a sense of meaning to our lives could not exist without the dedication of our artists, educators and volunteers, and also the financial support of local corporations and government entities. The arts enrich our lives and provide for an innovative and civically vibrant community. We enjoy the beauty they offer, the thought provoking narratives, and sometimes challenging messages that enrich lives. The arts enlighten, entertain, and educate. Without the work countless individuals do behind the scenes, our lives would be less colorful and less diverse. We enjoy a year-round offering of arts and culture in Tuscaloosa. They have a crucial impact on our local economy and are an important catalyst for learning, discovery, and achievement in our country. The arts enable us to see the world differently, compel us to think, and maybe have a better understanding of each other. We must continue to advocate for the arts.

President John F. Kennedy made the following remarks at Amherst College in 1963: “I look forward to an America which will reward achievement in the arts as we reward achievement in business or statecraft. I look forward to an America which will steadily raise the standards of artistic accomplishment and which will steadily enlarge cultural opportunities for all of our citizens. And I look forward to an America which commands respect throughout the world not only for its strength but for its civilization as well.”

These words still resonate with us today. Tuscaloosa and the arts community continue to grow and thrive as a “Community of Champions.” I am grateful for a talented and hardworking staff and a dedicated board of directors. Thank you to all those that make Tuscaloosa a great place to live!

Sandra Wolfe, Executive Director
The Arts Council of Tuscaloosa

History and Purpose

Established in 1970 by a group of citizens dedicated to the arts, the mission of The Arts Council is to promote and encourage the arts and humanities in Tuscaloosa County. The Arts Council serves as the umbrella organization for 50 Member Organizations, offers educational programs, and manages the historic Bama Theatre and the Dinah Washington Cultural Arts Center.

MISSION

2016 -17

22nd Druid Arts Awards-March 30, 2017

The Druid Arts Awards are presented by The Arts Council in a ceremony held every other year at the Bama Theatre. Volunteers, educators and artists in each discipline are honored in addition to corporate sponsors, the Patron of the Arts, and the Home Grown award. Special awards are also presented to those individuals or groups who contribute to the arts community but are outside of the aforementioned categories. The purpose of the ceremony is to publicly recognize the work of the dedicated individuals in each of these areas and their contributions to Tuscaloosa County. COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIPS

Canstruction, Jr.
The Tuscaloosa City Schools hosted its 4th annual Canstruction, Jr. event February 28-March 3, 2017 and included 15 school teams that created large sculptures made from canned food items. This year’s partnership with The Arts Council of Tuscaloosa provided the second opportunity for these unique student works to be displayed as a gallery art exhibit at the Dinah Washington Cultural Arts Center.

At the end of the viewing, 8,700 lbs. of food were donated to the West Alabama Food Bank. The event fits the TCS curriculum by providing students opportunities for collaborative, hands-on learning targeting real-world problems—in this case, hunger. Students also integrated math and geometry, art and design, and physics and engineering.

Community

Advocacy
The Arts Council serves as the umbrella organization for over 50 member organizations representing the visual, performing and literary arts, museums, and philanthropic organizations. Any non-profit group (IRS-501c3) located in Tuscaloosa County can join The Arts Council as a member organization. Member organizations have access to the community calendar, are eligible to receive grant funding, receive a discount when renting the Bama Theatre, and can attend workshops presented by The Arts Council geared toward issues facing non-profits. The Council also sponsors the Druid Arts Awards and Community Arts Conversations.

Grants
The Small Grants program was established to aid Tuscaloosa County non-profit organizations, educators, and artists in their pursuit of projects contributing to the greater good of local students and citizens through the arts. Since the advent of the program in 1986, local artists and organizations have received more than $130,000. The Arts in Education Grant was established to award funding from the Arts in Education Fund within the Community Foundation of West Alabama. Tuscaloosa City/County educators pursuing a project with an arts-based element are eligible for this grant.

Individual Artist Grants:
- Richard Nowell, $202
- Trenton White, $250
- Dylan Scott, $750

Organization Grants:
- The Literacy Council of West Alabama, $1000
- Tuscaloosa Children’s Theatre, $450
- Kentuck Art Center, $1000
- Bama Fanfare, $500

Competitions and Galleries 2016-2017

The Arts Council provides local visual artists two venues to display their art, as well as competitions that provide advancement and connection with other artists. The 12th annual Double Exposure Photography Competition hosted 227 entries in its Adult and Junior Divisions. As Alabama’s only statewide photography competition, Double Exposure is especially valued by teachers in public and private schools. The West Alabama Juried Show, which serves artists in West Alabama counties, has been a local mainstay since 1985. This competition provides a network for area artists and is especially valued by teachers in public and private schools. Education

Programming
The Arts Council provides arts education opportunities to students at the Bama Theatre, the Dinah Washington Cultural Arts Center, and on site at West Alabama schools. Disciplines include theatre, music, dance, visual art, and poetry. The Arts Council’s programming exposes students to a wide range of activities conducive to academic and social development. Students also benefit from curriculum-based activities that complement their work in the classroom.

- Bama Fanfare and Spectra
  - Bama Fanfare, Fanfare Caravans, and Spectra served approximately 3,526 pre-k and elementary students and teachers across West Alabama. These professional productions and programs weave arts through the curriculum and teach important life lessons.

Education Grants Received
- The Arts Council received a $2,500 grant from the Arts Education License Plate Advisory Committee to assist students in attending a poetry recitation performance by Mayhem Poets.
- The Arts Council received an Alabama Arts Education Initiative grant in the amount of $20,000 from the Alabama State Department of Education. The funds will be used in the 2017-18 school year in collaboration with Englewood Elementary School to initiate a pilot program that will incorporate music into core curriculum to enhance math skills.

Additional Arts Council Education Outreach

- The Arts Council serves as regional coordinator for Poetry Out Loud, which is sponsored by the Alabama State Council on the Arts. The National Endowment for the Arts and the Poetry Foundation partner with state arts agencies to support this contest which encourages youth to learn about poetry through memorization and recitation. The program helps students master public speaking skills, build self-confidence, and learn about their literary heritages.

10 Reasons to Support the Arts
February 2017

1. 63 percent of the population believe the arts “lift me up beyond everyday experiences,” 64 percent feel the arts give them “pure pleasure to experience and participate in,” and 73 percent say the arts are a “positive experience in a troubled world.”

2. 67 percent of Americans believe “the arts unify our communities regardless of age, race, and ethnicity” and 62 percent agree that the arts “help me understand other cultures better”—a perspective observed across all demographic and economic categories.

3. Students engaged in arts learning have higher GPAs and standardized test scores, and lower drop-out rates. The Department of Education reports that access to arts education for students of color is significantly lower than for their white peers, and has declined for three decades. Yet, research shows that low socioeconomic status students have even greater increases in academic performance, college-going rates, college grades, and holding jobs with a future. 88 percent of Americans believe that arts are part of a well-rounded K-12 education.

4. The arts and culture sector is a $730 billion industry which represents 4.2 percent of the nation’s GDP—a larger share of the economy than transportation, tourism, and agriculture (U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis). The nonprofit arts industry alone generates $135 billion in economic activity annually (spending by organizations and their audiences), which supports 4.1 million jobs and generates $22.3 billion in government revenue.

5. Attendees at nonprofit arts events spend $24.60 per person, per event, beyond the cost of admission on items such as meals, parking, and babysitters—valuable revenue for local commerce and the community. Attendees who live outside the county in which the arts event takes place spend twice as much as their local counterparts ($39.96 vs. $17.42).

6. Arts travelers are ideal tourists, staying longer and spending more to seek out authentic cultural experiences. Arts destinations grow the economy by attracting foreign visitor spending. The U.S. Department of Commerce reports that, between 2003-2015, the percentage of international travelers including “art gallery and museum visits” on their trip grew from 17 to 29 percent, and the share attending “concerts, plays, and musicals” increased from 13 to 16 percent.

7. The arts and culture industries had a $30 billion international trade surplus in 2014, according to the Bureau of Economic Analysis. U.S. exports of arts goods (e.g., movies, paintings, jewelry) exceeded $60 billion.

8. Creativity is among the top 5 applied skills sought by business leaders—with 72 percent saying creativity is of high importance when hiring. The Conference Board’s Ready to Innovate report concludes “The arts—music, creative writing, drawing, dance—provide skills sought by employers of the 3rd millennium.” Research on creativity shows that Nobel laureates in the sciences are 17 times more likely to be actively engaged in the arts than other scientists.

9. Nearly one-half of the nation’s healthcare institutions provide arts programming for patients, families, and even staff. 78 percent deliver these programs because of their healing benefits to patients—shorter hospital stays, better pain management, and less medication.

10. The arts are part of the military continuum—promoting readiness during pre-deployment as well as aiding in the successful reintegration and adjustment of Veterans and military families into community life. Service members and Veterans rank art therapies in the top 4 (out of 40) interventions and treatments.
